VANCOUVER (CP)—People are so worried about cigarette causing lung cancer they are smoking more.
Frits Bodde, deputy chairman of the British-American Tobacco Company, said in an interview Friday reports that lung cancer is caused by smoking are increasing sales.
"When people get worried like this they smoke more," he said.

Train Wreck Rush-Hour Smashup Kills 43

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Two speeding commuter trains collided head-on during the rush hour at a station just outside of Sao Paulo last night, causing a heavy loss of life.

Officials said at least 43 persons were killed and more than 100 others were injured in the jolting smashup.

Casualty toll was expected to rise as rescue crews clawed their way through the twisted wreckage for bodies.

The tracks of the crash scene were littered with splintered wood, broken glass and passengers' belongings scattered by the impact. Some of the bodies were thrown clear of the train coaches.

The trains were travelling in opposite directions on the same track. The officials said one of the trains had been switched to a siding, but through error had been switched back to the main line as the second approached.

The collision occurred near a station located nine miles from the downtown section of this second largest city in Brazil.

The outgoing train was loaded to capacity with commuters returning home from work. The incoming train was crowded with people going into Sao Paulo for the evening.

Police said several of the victims were found alive, but died en route to hospital.

'Violent, Scandalous' Communist Berlin World Spy Capital

Hérons Block Project

LADNER (CP)—Construction of two roads and a 500-square-yard housing development at nearby Tsawwassen Beach has been postponed for the benefit of a flock of more than 1,000 Great Blue Herons.

More than 100 nests are located in the area. Construction was halted Thursday for about two weeks so the herons hatched this spring can gain strength for their annual migration south.

Real estate man George Hodgins called off construction work at the request of Ladner game warden Reg King.

Buildings and building machinery were locked up.

"Mr. Hodgins obviously cares more for the birds who pay no rent than the people who do," Mr. King said. "We appreciate this very much."

Ladner is 15 miles south of Vancouver.

Double Agent Exposed

BONN (AP)—A man recently arrested on spy charges was named Friday as a high West German official of an anti-Communist organization.
The state attorney's office in Karlsruhe identified him as Wolfram von Hanstein, vice-president and secretary-general of the League for Human Rights. The league claims to be engaged in exposing Communist persecution of East Germans.

FATE OF CANADA HINGES ON U.S. AIR MASTER PLAN

Chart for Survival Or a Compromise?

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new "master plan" for air defence which U.S. Secretary Neil McElroy has promised to submit to Congress in two weeks will mould the fate of Canada as well as that of the United States.

The big question is—will the plan be merely an attempt to compromise the bitter disputes between the warring U.S. military services over money for missiles, or will it be a dramatic break from the defense confusion Canadians and Americans find so frustrating?

Will the McElroy plan be a plan for survival in case of an all-out Communist attack? Will it envision massive shelters for large numbers of people, means of firing missiles from bomb-proof bases and some new defense against Russia's vast fleet of missile-firing submarines?

Most observers doubt if it will. They think the plan will only seek to settle the bitter dispute between House partisans of the army's Nike-Hercules missile and Senate partisans of the Bomarc—which Canada is committed to use.

The whole defence situation is producing an acute malaise in the American public. At last Americans are taking with dead earnestness the view expressed most recently by a general a week ago—that the only real defence the United States has today is diplomacy and keeping its allies.

But diplomacy—and an alliance must be backed up by a military policy that can be understood by the allies and the people at home—and at present very few people understand the U.S. defence policy, some congressmen believe the U.S. has been panicked by Soviet bluff into spending billions on the wrong defence measures.

For example, a few years ago, when the Russians introduced their Bison bomber with great fanfare, the U.S. spent billions on a defence against it. Then the Bison proved a flop and the Russians abandoned it.

Now, the question is being raised in congress and even more vigorously in parliament at Ottawa as to whether the United States and Canada are not in grave danger of wasting as much as $60,000,000,000 on the Bomarc and Hercules missiles, and meanwhile failing to meet the Soviet submarine and ballistic missile threat—plus failing to give adequate attention to the matter of civilian survival.

Canada In Deep —Pearkes

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Defence Minister George Pearkes stressed last night that Canadian participation in North American defence was far greater than merely acting as a missile site for the United States.

He said that the defence departments of both countries have been working in co-ordination with one another to "an extremely large extent."

RADAR ROLE

Pearkes, here to address the 14th annual meeting of the Naval Officers Associations of Canada, pointed to the role of the new giant radar station at Prince Albert, Sask.

The information gained from radar studies of cosmic rays and the aurora borealis from the site will be of immense importance to defence scientists of both nations, he said.

Pearkes said the station was an excellent example of the co-operation between the neighboring nations.

Empty Stomach Worse Than Broken Back

Munching on a hamburger brought in to him at Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday, logger Emil Bartanus told about the logging accident in which he was injured near Jordan River

Thursday and the uncontrollable hunger that made him ask for hamburgers on the way to hospital, despite the pain from three broken vertebrae.—(Colonist photo.)

One Rescuer Just Out of Cast

Hungry Logger Sure Grateful

Emil Bartanus, who suffered three broken vertebrae in a logging accident in the Jordan River area Thursday, relaxed in his Royal Jubilee Hospital bed yesterday and said: "I'm sure grateful to the fellows who came out from camp to pack me out of the bush."

"They came out just as they were, in their good clothes," he said. "One of them, George Anderson, had only been out of a cast for a broken ankle a couple of weeks. I hear his foot is all swollen up again today."

Mr. Bartanus said it took four men to pack him out. "I'm no lightweight and I had heavy clothes on. The fellows were wonderful—careful as they could be—but every now and then a foot would slip on wet ground or a log, and the wrench hurt something fierce."

He said he was hungry when he got to camp about 8 p.m. Thursday and asked his fellow loggers to phone to Sooke for hamburgers.

"But my wife met me with some sandwiches and a thermos."

"I'm a first aid man myself, so I knew I really shouldn't eat in case there were internal injuries," he said yesterday.

Mr. Bartanus explained that an "afterthought" put him in hospital.

He had spotted an old cedar that had fallen years before, leaving two slabs, one 60 feet long and the other 40 feet, waving in the wind.

He thought he should get them down and about quitting time felled a nearby tree so it would knock the slabs down. "But it didn't work that way," he said. "The tree hit the slab all right, but the slab only went part way with the tree, then snapped back and down, right for me."

"I tried to run, but got caught in branches. I covered my head, but the slab caught my back."

Successful Rocket Claimed by Egypt

CAIRO (UPI)—The newspaper Al Akhbar said yesterday the United Arab Republic has produced the Arab world's first successful intermediate-range rocket.

The newspaper said the rocket, called El Ramah (the Sprinter) 301, was tested on a desert range adjoining the war plant where it was designed and built, with "excellent results."

It said the war ministry has appointed a special committee to conduct "important experiments with the new rocket in complete secrecy."

Phone Staffs Accept Offer

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 7,000 telephone employees in B.C. have voted to accept a one-year contract providing for a three-per-cent wage increase and fringe benefits, it was announced Friday.

B.C. Federation of Telephone Workers said the increase is retroactive to April 1.

Police Kill Sniper In Coal Union War

HINDMAN, Ky. (UPI)—State police killed one of a group of snipers who pinned down a convoy of 15 to 20 trucks loaded with non-union coal on a steep hill and wounded a young driver yesterday.

Dead man was identified as Bobby Jenkins, Jr.

Chester Blair, 20, was shot in both hands and one knee but managed to ease his truck to the bottom of a hill, Cornett Hill on Ky. Highway 15. His condition was reported "good" in hospital.

TIRES HIT
The tires of six or seven trucks were punctured by rifle bullets and the cabs and windows of several were shot out.

State police detectives confiscated four high-powered rifles, a pair of foreign-made binoculars and a large supply of ammunition found hidden under weeds and vines off the highway.

State police detective W. E. Wood estimated more than 100 shots were fired from both sides of the road.

The strike began March 9

and has idled an estimated 7,000 miners in seven southeastern Kentucky counties.

Death of Jenkins came after a group of snipers had fired at trucks hauling coal to a coal company operated by a leader in resistance to signing of the 1959 United Mine Workers contract.

The death was the third since the mine strike started March 9.

Small Poll Expected

A light vote is expected in today's special byelection in Oak Bay to fill two vacancies on the municipal council. Returning officer A. D. Findlay said last night he had heard little public discussion of the election.

Votes must be cast in the Oak Bay council chamber between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. today.

Seven Indicted

Gun-Running Count Sticks

MIAMI (UPI)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted as conspirators seven men who allegedly set up an underground network to funnel arms from the United States into the seething Caribbean.

The grand jury charged the men, including the Dominican Republic's consul-general in Miami, attempted to bribe U.S. customs agents to let the arms go through Miami.

The case was broken with the arrest of 11 persons loading guns and ammunition aboard a four-engine transport plane here May 22. Cuban exile sources said at that time the arms were being shipped to the Dominican Republic to be used to stage a counter-revolution against Cuba.

U.S. customs officials confirmed that the arms were destined for this use and added that the weapons seized were the first of a $1,000,000 worth the conspirators planned to export.

The broader implications of the plot were not mentioned in the indictments returned yesterday.

Cross-Island Bus Trips At Last

The public at last may drive from Campbell River to Gold River and Murchat Arm on the west coast of Vancouver Island, but only by Coach Lines bus.

After more than a year of negotiation, an agreement has been reached between the bus line and Elk River Timber and Taxis Logging Companies.

The trip takes two hours from coast to coast, with a half-hour stop at Gold River. Buses leave Campbell River on Wednesdays at 3 p.m., on Fridays at 4 p.m., Saturdays at 6 a.m. and 4 p.m. and Sundays at 8.45 a.m.

The drive is a scenic trip along Upper Campbell and Buttle Lakes, then down the Elk River Valley and the Gold River.

Preview to Heart Attack

MONTREAL (CP)—Doctors may soon be able to forecast coronary heart disease as much as 15 years in advance of its onslaught.

Dr. Yves Desrochers of the Montreal Institute of Cardiology disclosed Friday that a method may have been discovered that will reveal persons who are potential heart attack victims.

The method uses the electrocardiograph, a device which charts contraction and expansion of the heart to determine whether heartbeat is normal. Physicians now are able to detect coronary heart disease by noting aberrations in the line the electrocardiograph draws on a sheet of paper.

Persons who may be susceptible to heart attack have shown a characteristic, but barely noticeable, marking on their electrocardiograms. Dr. Desrochers told the Canadian Heart Association's annual meeting.

But some persons are unaware that they are susceptible to heart attack until the disease has progressed for many years and they feel chest pains. The disease may be developing for up to 15 years before it is diagnosed.

Dr. Desrochers was aided in his research by Dr. Paul David, director of the institute, and Dr. Dincer Firat.

Dr. Desrochers said the method has not yet been investigated thoroughly but it is a step towards being able to predict heart disease, he said.

MICKEY ROONEY
... second secret

'Haven't Done Anything To Be Ashamed Of'

LAS VEGAS (UPI)—Mickey Rooney, 39, who disclosed his secret marriage to wife No. 5, followed it up yesterday with the announcement that he and his bride expect a baby in October.

The Mick's quickie divorce from wife No. 4 and subsequent marriage to Barbara Thomason last Dec. 1 may not be legal, according to deputy district attorney John L. Loucks of Santa Monica, Calif., where Rooney was divorced from Elaine Mahnen only last May 18.

But legal snares did not dampen Mickey's spirits.

"Barbara and I are as happy as two people can be," he said. "We're elated, related and delighted about having a baby. I'm already the father of three boys, so this time I am hoping for a little girl."

Growing serious, the half-pint actor added, "We haven't done anything wrong and we have nothing to be ashamed of."

Mickey and his 22-year-old bride—the only wife he's had who is shorter than himself—are living at this desert spa's New Frontier Hotel where Rooney is appearing in a night club act.

Sockeye Signs Point to It

Another Record Run

SEATTLE (AP)—The Fraser River in British Columbia appears destined for a record run of sockeye salmon in 1961. Washington's State Department of Fisheries reported Friday.

"Staff field reports of the International Pacific Salmon Fisheries Commission indicate the current seaward migration of yearling sockeye from the large Stuart and Quesnel Lake systems is very heavy," said a department news release.

Similar reports preceded the famous 1958 Adams River run, estimated at 19,000,000 fish.

Given favorable survival conditions, said fisheries department director Milo Moore, the 1961 Fraser run could approach 10,000,000, or double the size of the last "cycle year" of 1957.

The runs were all but destroyed by slides at Hell's Gate Canyon in 1913. Fishways constructed in the late 1940s gave the salmon a detour around the barrier.

Fishermen in 1913 harvested 30,000,000 salmon from the Fraser run.

POWER WILL BE OFF IN SAANICH PENINSULA ON SUNDAY

It will be necessary to suspend electric service in the Saanich Peninsula on Sunday, June 7, from approximately 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m., in order to do maintenance work on transformers at Brentwood substation and to increase the capacity of Swartz Bay substation.

The area affected is all of the Saanich Peninsula north of the south end of Beaver Lake, including James Island, Sidney Island, Goudie Island, Coal Island and Knap Island, but with the exception of the Cordova Bay-Elk Lake area.

'Stinkers' Apologize, Still Miss Movies

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Two of three teen-agers who threw stink bombs in the Nova Theatre here have apologized, but the third one couldn't. His parents wouldn't let him out after dark.

Ed Jette, manager of the theatre, banned all teen-agers from his theatre until those responsible for the stink bombs had apologized.

A group of teen-agers tracked down the culprits so the ban would be lifted in time for a showing of an Elvis Presley movie (King Creole).

If the third boy's parents let him out to apologize, it still won't help the three responsible. Mr. Jette said the bombers cannot come back, no matter what.

Plebiscite Would Settle It

IF the issue of fluoridation is to be revived once more in the Greater Victoria area, a public ballot held in all four municipalities simultaneously at the same time as the municipal elections in December would appear to be the only practical means of settling this issue once and for all. A special plebiscite at any other time would run into quite unnecessary costs through the provision of complete poll staffing and all the obligatory safeguards of balloting. At the time of the annual municipal elections such a reference would cost very little by comparison.

A good many citizens will remember earlier debate and discussion over the question of protecting children's teeth by this means. The issue proved contentious, led to reasoned and emotional conflicts in argument, and finally remained unsettled. If there is any direct appeal now to revive the matter, the City and its municipal neighbors would have only one recourse that we can see—that would be to put the question to the citizens concerned. A ballot in December would afford every voter an opportunity of saying what he, or she, wants done about fluorine. A plebiscite at any other time might lead to partial and perhaps inconclusive results, because voters do not flock to special polls.

Without entering into the contentions of the issue at this time, we would point out that the responsibility for what is done in matters affecting public health rests with the municipal councils concerned. How can they decide an issue which heretofore has led to sharp division without a reference to the citizens? How could they by any means other than a vote acquire sufficient support to act either affirmatively or negatively on the question itself? In practical terms such a plebiscite could be taken by arrangement next December in all areas concerned. That would settle the matter finally.

A Case of Wait and See

COINCIDENTALLY almost, while this week the Canadian prime minister was appointing a new foreign secretary to fill a vacancy it was affirmed overseas that the British prime minister was about to discard an old one. The speculation, couched in positive terms, caused an upset at Geneva, where it was feared it might undermine the prestige of Mr. Selwyn Lloyd at the current big-power foreign ministers' conference. Prime Minister Macmillan hastened to wire Mr. Lloyd of his personal support and confidence, in an effort to undo any ill effects.

Speculations on governments and their changes are customary in the realm of political journalism, and are not without value. They keep people posted of likely developments as a matter of public information. Frequently they are well founded, also. In the Lloyd instance the forecast was made by The Times of London, a journal which is the antithesis of irresponsibility and is generally regarded as having the ear of government circles. This added a degree of authenticity not always credited to such dispatches. Nor has The Times dissented from the viewpoint expressed by its political correspondent.

What appears to be overlooked in the furore which this alleged dismissal-to-come has caused, is that Mr. Lloyd's departure was envisaged as being several months ahead. That is, after the summit conference on which Mr. Macmillan has set his heart, and probably subsequent to a general election which would bring about a reorganization of his ministry. In the view of The Times' political writer it is a matter of easing the strain which the foreign secretary labors under, and there would be another place for him in the cabinet.

Since Britain is one of the big powers of the Western alliance a change at its foreign office is a major shift, indicating perhaps policy as well as individual aptitudes. Thus the excitement which followed The Times' affirmation. Once it was that foreign ministers could make or unmake prime ministers, but nowadays it is prime ministers who primarily wield the authority. It is a case now of wait and see, as another British prime minister said of something else.

Clay-Coated Streets

SECTION 93 (f) of the Street Traffic and Regulation Bylaw of the city reads as follows: "No person shall permit any clay, mud or dirt to fall from vehicles on any street, provided that where any mud, clay or dirt is deposited from vehicles on any street the driver or owner of such vehicle shall take immediate steps to remove the same."

Attention is directed to that very necessary regulation because of the filthy condition to which streets in the centre of Victoria have been reduced this week, with no apparent effort on the part of those responsible for the disgusting mess to clean it up, or of the city authorities to see that they do. Trucks removing material from excavations have smeared the streets in many directions with sticky clay, some of it in lumps as big as a football. The tires of other vehicles pick it up and spread it all over the place, with the result that there are few sections of street in the business district and beyond that are not now coated with mire.

There is no excuse for this excessive and sloppy loading of earth-moving vehicles, or for the lack of supervision whereby trucks are allowed to leave the site of excavations with globs and streams of clay dripping from them. The condition of the streets yesterday was a cause of annoyance, inconvenience and expense to people using them, and a nuisance to stores as well from the dirt tracked in on the shoes of customers. In wet weather also streets coated with slippery clay are dangerous to traffic and to pedestrians, especially elderly people.

It will take much more than a shower of rain to remove this widespread mess. Those responsible should be required to clean it up thoroughly forthwith and to make sure that there is no recurrence.

Interpreting the News

Sukarno Meets Reverse

By PHIL NEWSON
UPI Foreign Editor

OBSERVERS in Jakarta, Indonesia's capital, were saying this week that Sukarno had suffered his greatest political defeat. The army had banned all political activity, and Sukarno's bid for near-dictatorial powers had come a cropper in the face of stonewall Moslem opposition.

Jakarta reports said the army moved to prevent the nation plunging into chaos. But of all this Sukarno himself gave no sign.

In the midst of a globe-circling tour, Sukarno was in Hollywood exploring the mysteries of movie-making and having his picture taken. He showed no indication of hurrying home.

At the core of the difficulty was Sukarno's demand for creation of a five-year cabinet, with himself at the head, which would rule Indonesia "without interference of opposition as conceived by the system of liberal democracy."

It would be the first step in his concept of "guided democracy" for Indonesia, a socialistic concept eliminating capitalism.

It received strong support from Indonesian Communists who would participate in the new government on a basis of equality and who could hope from this stepping stone eventually to take over the government.

Moslem opposition arose not so much from a dislike of the "guided democracy" plan as from Sukarno's refusal to assure them in advance of a prominent place in the new government.

Sukarno has declared western-style democracy unsuitable for Indonesia and his present actions indicate he considers his defeat to be temporary only.

During a visit to New York in 1956, Sukarno declared that "neither rubles nor dollars can buy a scrap of our freedom."

But as a successful revolutionary in his own right, Sukarno has expressed admiration for the accomplishments of Soviet Russia and has paid tribute to Soviet leaders for helping to shape his ideas for a "working cabinet" which would "guide the people and channel their ideas to achieve their needs and desires."

Sukarno, 58 years old on June 7, spent 12 of those years either in jail or exile.

Economic Folly

Thin End of Communism

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

IF THE government continues to buy up the surplus products of the farms—such as grain, eggs, butter, pork, etc.—at prices that the farmers cannot get on the open market, there can be only one result of that economic folly: government bankruptcy.

In buying up those agricultural products the government has itself gone into the grain, eggs, butter and pork business. Its object was to help the farmers by maintaining market prices; but already the government has enormous stocks of those products on hand, which it is selling to other countries at lower prices than those charged to the Canadian consumers. Thus the government is entering into competition with the farmers by cutting prices in the foreign market, upon which the farmers have to depend for the sale of a large portion of their products.

The worst feature of this foolishness is that it is the thin end of the wedge of communism, which eventually would have to be adopted through the government's appropriating all farm products and marketing them, as in Russia. That is a more sensible and businesslike system than the present one of subsidizing over-production and freezing vast surpluses at the cost of millions of dollars in taxation.

Those taxes are paid by the Canadian consumers of farm products, which means that they are paying higher than the market prices for their food, while the government is piling up surpluses at increasing storage costs annually.

Some years ago there was a popular outcry against the burning of food products in order to create a shortage and thus maintain market prices. And what is the difference between that and the government's hoarding good food and rendering it valueless? Far better that it be destroyed outright in the first place, saving the expense of hoarding and preserving perishable commodities for no useful purpose.

In the case of grain, the western farmers formed wheat pools in the belief that they could get more for their grain by holding it and thus creating an artificial shortage that would increase its market value. But the market refused to pay the higher prices asked for Canadian wheat and the pools were left with large surpluses on their hands.

In order to pay the farmers for their crops and meet the costs of storage, the pools borrowed from the banks. That landed them into financial difficulties, with the result that the government had to back the bank loans and eventually establish a wheat board, which assumed full responsibility for marketing and storing the surpluses.

If it wasn't so financially serious, this idea of the government's buying and storing surplus products would be funny.

Imagine what would happen if the system were to be extended to other industries. The manufacturers would be relieved of the anxiety of being unable to market all their products, and the government would be swamped with surplus goods of all kinds, from motor cars to tooth brushes, for which it would require acres of warehouses in which to store them.

Another miracle in the offing?

Reports From Ottawa

MEMO to the Canadian electorate: I beg to report that your Parliament has sat daily since Jan. 15, Saturdays and Sundays excepted, and excepting also a 12-day Easter recess, and has transacted a considerable amount of important national business.

Further, that a substantial amount of business still remains to be dealt with, so that the chances of winding up the parliamentary session by the July 1 target date grow dimmer daily.

Further, that in an effort to speed things along, the government has prevailed upon the Commons to sit three mornings a week, as well as five afternoons and four evenings, starting next Wednesday.

And finally, that your Parliament seems to be heading into the same old shemuzzle of other years. The kind of home stretch gallop in which money is voted at a million-a-minute clip, and those who want to debate legislation fully are accused of unduly delaying the business of the House.

The government's flap to finish by July 1 is because prorogation of Parliament on that day would fit nicely into the Queen's timetable. She will be in the capital on Dominion Day.

If Parliament fails to finish its business by July 1, the next date the Queen would be free to prorogue Parliament is July 27, a Monday, which she is scheduled to spend free of engagements at Governor-General Massey's home near Port Hope, Ont.

It would appear that the government is planning for this eventuality. Originally the Queen's stay at Port Hope was one day only—Sunday the 26th. Now a free Monday has been added. Moreover, the mounted troop of the RCMP, which has a busy summer schedule at fairs and exhibitions, is available in Ottawa on July 27 to provide a mounted escort for the Queen's drive to Parliament.

Of course, if opposition MPs "talk out" Prime Minister Diefenbaker's bid for a prorogation by the Queen, Governor-General Massey should do very nicely. He's an old hand at it.

Few MPs are optimistic that Parliament can make it by July 1 even if the PM were to decide that action on a Bill of Rights should be postponed until next session.

This is contentious legislation, and won't be passed quickly. I think that if its postponement means making the July 1 deadline, it will be postponed. Otherwise it will be proceeded with, and in that case probably will be reserved for the royal signature, "Elizabeth RI", prior to a July 27 prorogation.

Even without this legislation so close to the PM's heart, Parliament still has a heavy enough agenda. There's a debate on the defence department estimates, covering most important questions of defence policy and administration. The agriculture department's estimates took six days; defence should take longer.

Also pending are debates on the estimates of the departments of finance, external affairs, and northern affairs and national resources.

There's contentious legislation covering payments to Newfoundland under Term 29 of the Terms of Union. There's an important amendment to the combines legislation, and there may be heavy going for the legislation to renew the federal-provincial tax sharing arrangements.

These do not exhaust the list, but they are the main time-takers. And July 1 is less than four weeks away.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

QUITE rightly, the average person faced with the usual decisions in business, employment and enterprise, asks: "What's in it for me?"

And such is our way of life these days that this means here, now, cash on the barrel head.

But there is still to be found a type of person who does not ask this question, and who seems oddly indifferent as regards prompt payment. You will find them among fellow workers, or across the counter in stores, or behind desks in offices you have never been in before.

The one I have in mind was a cub reporter during my own early days on newspapers. He was something of a butt for all his fellows. If you wanted to evade a night assignment that interfered with your social activities, you could always count on this lad to pinch hit for you. Indeed, he seemed to go out of his way to get work wished onto him. Some editors thought he was dumb for that reason.

"It's all hay in the barn," he used to say, cheerily.

He did not demand raises. We wrote him off as too good-natured a man ever to amount to anything. He had no edge.

"It's all wood on the wood pile," he would remark, when we scolded him as an easy mark.

But he was right. It was hay in the barn. It was wood on the wood pile. He went from newspaper to newspaper in quiet ascent. His reputation for giving more than he asked built him a reputation that spread in the publishing world. Many a man who imposed on him 30 years ago wishes sadly he had a job under him today.

Fun, Fact and Fiction

The human foot, we are told, is getting bigger all the time, which suggests that something should be done about lengthening the handle of the power mower.

"School days," mused the harassed mother, "are the happiest days of your life—provided, of course, your children are old enough to go."

One morning a busy commuter was crossing the street in a great rush to make his train. He was nearly run down by an antiquated car populated with about a dozen children.

Since the red light had been against the driver as she came to a halt, he said, "Lady, don't you know when to stop?"

Glancing back at the children, she answered icily, "They aren't all mine."

A new product for children, just reported, seems destined for mammoth sales. It is a colored soap shaped like a lump of mud.

Troubles of Youth

Menacing Prospect

By CASSANDRA, from London

LIFE viewed from childhood can sometimes be a menacing prospect and as we get old we forget the troubles of the green pastures of youth.

The Industrial Welfare Society has just published a shilling pamphlet which reveals something of what school children are thinking will happen when they go to seek employment. From 200 essays from pupils all over the country on the subject "What I expect from Work" the Industrial Welfare Society has made a representative selection.

The answers are naive, idealistic, a little pathetic, downright ignorant and sometimes, even a shade pompous.

Here is Margaret, aged 17 who seems a sensible if faintly prim young lady:

"The most important part of my future job is that it must be stimulating, interesting, satisfying and worthwhile occupation and not merely a method of gaining money. I would on the other hand, expect decent pay and reasonable working hours."

"Good prospects are essential as an encouragement to really good, sound work, for no-one can really put their best into their work knowing that there is no future in it. I should like to work with people of my own educational and intellectual level; not of course meaning that anyone else is excluded but that there should be at least some of my equals and superiors among my fellow-workers."

Here is William, aged 18, taking a gloomy view:

"I do not expect much from society after leaving school, in fact all I ask for is a form of employment that is not too boring and enough spare time to be able to enjoy it. Being an atheist I have only myself to rely on and I do not think that society has any obligation to the individual."

Ruth, aged 14, who has an uninhibited style of spelling:

"When I leave school I would like to work in London Zoo as a vet and to be trained to do something with the illness that the animals get. But as I cannot get in with that part work I would like to be a Zoo keeper with one particular animal that I would like to look after becous I like all of the animals I don't want to do anything else, but if I code not do anything at the zoo, I would like to do something to do with animals."

Gloria, aged 15:

"I want to be a dress maker and learn to trade local and after about three year's if I have learnt the trade well and still like it I would like to go up the West end and work. In my pay packet I would like Four pounds. I would like my employer to be friendly and a person I could talk to if I was in any kind of trouble and wanted to tell him or her and a person whose you could have a joke with, but also a person whose was a bit sharp and could tell us when we have gone a bit to far in a strict manner."

And finally, David, aged 14:

"When I Leave school I would like to be a Bricklayer so that I can work out of doors it is a very interest Jobe and you can make lots of new friends I will probly be a tea boy to start of with then I will searv an apprentice for five yerse so that when I have seved my appethship I can start up my own beenss and bld my own house I expect to be happy at my work I know tow friends that all redy work at bricklaear I do not want to work in a fatry I Lick mixing mortar."

The general view is that our kids, on the whole, are getting a better education than young people were twenty or thirty years ago. It seems, however, as they say in the school reports, that there is "a wide margin for improvement."

MR GAITSKELL has been having a gruelling time on his visit to East Anglia. He has been interesting himself, among other things, in brewing machinery, tree-felling, cement mixers, nail varnish, coal machinery, paint, shipbuilding, coach-building and fish. There have been no demonstrations of enthusiasm and the cheers have been noticeably missing. The leader of the opposition has received the cool welcome with quiet good humor.

He was even booed at one point by the fish salesman of Lowestoft. But it was the boo that boxing fans always reserve for the referee. And this is a very fine boo indeed and, I am told, most puzzling to foreigners.

What appears to be a storm of dislike and contempt is, in the fight game, a tribute of affection from the crowd. Most of our referees enjoy it and would be slightly put out if they didn't get the traditional roar of friendly derision.

Mr. Gaitskell needn't worry.

THE IRON hand of the Eton urban district council is losing its grip. Up to now gardeners in that area have only been permitted to water their gardens with hose pipes between the hours of midnight and 4 a.m.

The council is considering a dramatic relaxation of this rule.

They are planning to allow the use of hoses from 11 p.m. to 3 a.m.

Pastor's Peccadilloes Forgiven, Forgotten

SAN ANTONIO, Tex.—Congregation of Trinity Baptist Church has taken a "forgive and forget" attitude toward Rev. W. S. McBirnie, 39, its handsome pastor who admitted he had been "improperly" involved with a woman church member.

Dr. McBirnie, who built his $15,000-a-year pastorate from 94 members in 1950 to 3,300 today, said overwork left him "easy prey" to a woman whom he tried to help during her marital troubles.

Clarence Boatright, first deacon, said: "A small minority would like him to leave, but a great majority believes he has humbled himself and by doing so has made himself a bigger man. He had the guts to admit he did something wrong."

MELBOURNE — Two temperance organizations hope Princess Alexandra will set an example by refusing alcoholic drinks at parties during her forthcoming Australian tour.

NEW YORK — Minnie Jean Brown, 18, graduated from high school yesterday. She was one of nine Negroes who entered Central High School in Little Rock in 1957 under protection of federal troops.

PHILADELPHIA — A newspaper published on its front page a letter from grieving Anatol Holt, 31, appealing for help instead of "caveman vengeance" for Edward Cooney, 15-year-old honor student charged with slaying Holt's three-year-old daughter Becky.

DENVER — Donald Atencio, 22, walking hand-in-hand with his girl, was shot through the heart by a burst of gunfire from a passing car. The girl,

Blasted Ferngulf Almost Repaired

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Norwegian freighter Ferngulf, badly damaged May 1 in an explosion and fire which fatally injured two of her crew, made compass adjustment trials in Vancouver harbor Friday following completion of repairs.

The vessel will be painted during the weekend and will be delivered to the charterers Monday for loading lumber.

USED CAR? MORRISON CHEVROLET — OLDSMOBILE Sales and Leases

MONTREAL (CP) — Two police officers were suspended Friday as the city's executive committee sifted reports that a huge car-theft ring is operating in Montreal with protection of the police department.

Suspensions were ordered for Det.-Capt. Armand Gignon, head of the auto-theft squad, and Det.-Lieut. Armand Bonneau, a desk officer, following charges made by a city councillor Thursday. An investigation of the auto-theft department was also ordered.

OFFICIAL DETERMINED Executive committee chairman J. M. Savignac said: "I am determined to find out if there is any connivance in the police department and to stop it if there is."

He said he wanted the investigation completed as soon as possible, and "I don't want a lukewarm report."

WITHIN 24 HOURS

Coun. Jean Meunier said the alleged ring can get the keys for a car, steal it, repaint it and sell it within 24 hours. He said his own white car was stolen, painted black and recovered 15 hours later with serial numbers removed.

"We called the gang and made them understand the car belonged to a city councillor. We told them if we didn't get it back, we'd book the whole gang for the weekend."

VULGAR LANGUAGE

Mr. Meunier is convinced he got the car back only because he is a councillor. He said he was insulted by an officer who used vulgar language before finding out who he was.

Det.-Capt. Gagnon said police have recovered all but 17 of the 3,000 cars stolen in Montreal this year.

"Councillor Meunier is operating under a misapprehension," he said.

Russian-Born VC Winner Dies at 70

OTTAWA (CP) — Philip Konowal, 70, Victoria Cross winner in the First World War, has died in hospital after a long illness.

Konowal, on the House of Commons maintenance staff for the last 25 years, won his VC in 1917 for bravery in cleaning out the enemy from cellars, craters and machine-gun emplacements.

In a two-day battle, Konowal, a corporal, killed at least 16 of the enemy until stopped by severe injury.

Konowal was born in Russia and served five years in the Czarist army before moving in 1914 to B.C., where he worked in lumber camps before joining up.

In the VC action, Konowal was shot in the mouth, an injury that left him disfigured, and was fired at by his captain, who thought he was deserting.

Non-Striking CBC Men Get Extra Holiday

OTTAWA (CP) — The CBC is giving an additional two weeks holidays to employees in Montreal who didn't take part in last winter's lengthy strike, CBC vice-president E. L. Bushnell informed the Commons broadcasting committee Thursday.

After the committee meeting Mr. Bushnell told a reporter that employees who stayed on the job had worked a great deal of overtime during the strike, and that the holidays were to "make up that overtime to them."

The government promised that all the weapons would be back in the hands of their owners by Nov. 1, the start of the partridge hunting season.

Adenauer Quells Party Rebellion, Still Holds Reins

BONN (AP) — Tough-willed Konrad Adenauer beat down an incipient rebellion among his followers Friday and won their approval of his decision to keep the helm of West Germany's government.

The 83-year-old leader argued in effect that he is the indispensable man at this juncture of history, not one to be shelved in the largely ceremonial job from which President Theodor Heuss is retiring in September.

Qualified informants said about 60 per cent of the Christian Democrats were against the switch, but finally bowed unanimously to his decision.

In Geneva Adenauer's turnabout has complicated the Western quest for a political agreement with Russia.

It had been the publicly unspoken word of several Western powers that West German policies would become less rigid after Adenauer stepped up to the post of president.

Most Western diplomats gladly give Adenauer full marks for the part he played

But He'll Study Land Case

Tory Whip Honest John D. Maintains

OTTAWA (CP) — Resounding applause from government supporters greeted Prime Minister Diefenbaker as he informed the Commons Friday he doesn't question the honesty of his party whip, John C. Pallett, who figured in a Malton Airport land expropriation case.

But he said in reply to Opposition Leader Pearson he intends to examine an exchequer court judgment dealing with the case "and the surrounding circumstances."

DREW ATTENTION

Mr. Pearson suggested the "fullest and most impartial examination" as he drew Mr. Diefenbaker's attention to the judgment in which a real estate appraiser testified that Mr. Pallett, member for Peel in which the land is located, instructed him to put as generous a valuation as possible on the properties.

The judgment by court president Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson said Mr. Pallett maintained Transport Minister Hees had agreed to abide by the "independent" land valuations made by Port Credit, Ont., appraiser, J. E. S. Clare.

But C. S. Booth, assistant deputy transport minister, denied in court testimony that Mr. Hees had made any such commitment. The court agreed with Mr. Booth.

"I have no hesitation in rejecting Mr. Clare's valuation," Mr. Justice Thorson said in finding against the land owners. "I do not believe that he was a free and independent appraiser."

Klan Breathes Fire Again In Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — The leader of the Ku Klux Klan, officially rechartered in Arkansas, has announced plans for an active revival of the secret group and said he is seeking support from Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

A. C. Hightower, a Little Rock barber who identified himself as the Grand Dragon of Arkansas, said the Klan "has done its job in the past and will do it again in the future."

He said members "will practice cross burning," but denied the Klan planned any type of violence "such as kidnappings and whippings."

"After all, how could a Christian organization preach violence?" he asked. "That is all we are, you know... just a Christian and a fraternal organization."

Hightower declined to say what type of support he is seeking from Faubus. He said his talks with Faubus would be secret.

The governor has made no comment.

Expired 14 Years Ago

The Klan's charter in Arkansas expired 14 years ago. Hightower laid down a $12.50 fee Thursday and filed articles of incorporation with Secretary of State C. G. Hall to put it back on the books.

Hall said there is no law against the Klan officially returning to life in Arkansas.

For the past few weeks posters have been displayed throughout the state bearing the Klan's death symbol — a dagger dripping blood. It is signed by the Klan, bears the inscription "In God We Trust" and urges "God-fearing, white Christians" to join.

Hightower denied the posters were put up by the Klan. He said he was opposed to them.

"There are some 5,000 members of the old Klan still around and we hope they will join up," Hightower said.

But Pearkes Thinks It's Best Bomarc Is Out If U.S. Says No

WINNIPEG (CP)—Defence Minister Pearkes said Friday if the Bomarc missile is not proved effective by the United States, Canada would not continue its development on its own.

Mr. Pearkes, here for a meeting of the Naval Officers' Association of Canada, said Canada "would be stupid" to develop the missile if the American government was not confident of its worth.

"But," he told a press conference, "I am convinced the Bomarc is the best defence for the North American continent."

"We should have defence in depth," he said, "including strategic centres from which Strategic Air Command bombers could be launched and a chain of Bomarc stations covering an area of northern United States and Canada. Closer to the SAC station, we would have Nike stations."

Successful Test Shots Disclosed

"The combined effort of Canada and the United States is giving a high degree of defence against the bomber threat."

EGLIN AIR FORCE BASE, Fla. (AP)—A ground-launched Bomarc missile and an air-launched Genie rocket successfully attacked two jet drones Friday after being fired at the same time by a ground control system.

The high-speed drones were attacked over the Gulf of Mexico about 115 miles from Eglin.

The IM-99A Bomarc made a direct hit on one of the pilot-less planes and knocked it from the sky.

The MB-1 Genie, fired from a manned F-101B Voodoo, scored a planned near-miss on the other drone.

The air force pronounced the project "100 per cent successful."

The firings were controlled by the SAGE Semi-Automatic Ground Environment system.

It was the first time that mixed weapons—both missile and manned—were simultaneously employed by the SAGE system for air defence.

OTTAWA (CP)—SAGE, the electronic brain which will control the operations of Canada's two Bomarc anti-aircraft missile stations will be installed at North Bay, Ont., it was learned Friday. Work on the site has started.

Provincial cabinet yesterday authorized transfer of the Vancouver Island Plantations Forest Reserve on the Chehalis River for development as a provincial park.

Recreation department officials said it is planned to develop the area as the old swimming-hole type of camp-site.

NEW YORK—Steelworkers called their key wage policy committee to New York to deal with a hopeless deadlock in its contract talks with the industry.

COLUMBIA, Miss.—A small fishing boat crowded with nine persons overturned on the Pearl River during a sudden thunderstorm. Four drowned and two are missing.

TORONTO—General assembly of the Presbyterian Church rejected a request that capital punishment be abolished.

NELSON, B.C.—Yukon Jaycees defeated a motion urging the provincial government to establish kindergartens in B.C. public schools.

No Card, No Freedom

Son of the late playwright, Eugene O'Neill, 39-year-old Shane O'Neill couldn't pay his way out of jail in Perth Amboy, N.J., yesterday. He had been fined $50 for failing to carry an identity card required for narcotic users. Police said a bottle of narcotic pills were found in O'Neill's shabby hotel room.

Firemen, Safety Devices Save Salt Spring Port

GANGES — Daring action of Ganges volunteer firemen plus the ingenuity of safety devices on a burning gasoline truck averted a major explosion on Salt Spring Island yesterday.

Traffic through the port of Ganges was blocked for two hours as a fully-loaded gasoline truck was all but consumed by flames.

The truck, owned by Shell Oil distributor Alex McManus, was about to unload fuel at a Ganges service station when it caught fire. Faulty wiring is suspected by RCMP as the cause.

When flames threatened to engulf the vehicle it was pushed out into the town square where it would cause the least damage if its hundreds of gallons of gasoline exploded.

Police blocked off approaches to the danger area, keeping spectators some 300 feet away, while volunteer firemen moved in under the protection of a nearby cliff.

With their heads barely showing above street level they got to within 50 feet of the flaming truck and played water hoses on it.

Meanwhile, the volatile content of the truck was prevented from exploding by safety-type filler caps which open slightly under the pressure of extreme heat.

Pressure of expanding gases inside the tanks was bled off slowly by the covers, preventing the flames from reaching the liquid fuel.

Water from the hoses finally cooled off the explosive load to the point where the safety-covers closed and the flames were snuffed out.

'No More Force Used Than Needed'

VANCOUVER (CP)—Defence counsel for a constable charged with assault on a one-armed man said Friday citizens should be proud to have policemen of his client's calibre who "take abuse night after night and still carry on."

Lawyer Hugh McGivern, counsel for Constable John Flaten, charged with assault causing bodily harm on Gordon Recknagel, 22, said the officer used no more force than was necessary to make an arrest.

Recknagel testified that the wrist of his good arm was broken.

Mr. McGivern said Recknagel had an advantage in the hook since it was just as offensive a weapon "as though he had armed himself with a hook." The constable testified Recknagel was intoxicated and swearing. He said Recknagel struck and kicked him.

Lumbermen Face Fight Everywhere

VANCOUVER (CP)—Spokesmen for 138 B.C. coast lumber companies told a conciliation board Friday the industry faces increasing competition from foreign markets because Canadian competition make it impossible to sell common lumber east of Hope, B.C.

It said the coast industry cannot enter the California market because tariffs, freight rates and currency exchange place it at a severe disadvantage with Washington and Oregon industries.

FIR doubted whether the shrunken British market can be held because of pressure

Homework 'Habit' Makes Study Fun

SASKATOON (CP)—Dr. Arthur Porter, dean of engineering at the University of Saskatchewan, says most students who come to college haven't been made to work hard enough.

"A high school student should do a minimum of 1½ hours homework a night and four hours at weekends," Dr. Porter said Friday.

"Once they get in the habit of homework, they find it is fun."

Dr. Porter, who addressed the Canadian Association of Physicists, also said that television isn't being used as much as it should be in education. He advocated a one-hour program every week on a trial basis, devoted to such topics as teaching students how to study.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador—This city returned to normal after three days of bloody rioting.

Steelworkers Launch Drive To Back CCF

TORONTO (CP)—The powerful steelworkers' union Friday told its locals across Canada to set up political action committees to foster support for a new left-wing political party as yet unborn.

The union's policy-makers—307 delegates representing 253 locals from coast to coast—agreed that organized labor has to get into politics with its own party to combat anti-union elements in Canada.

Unanimously, the delegates endorsed a new political alliance "reaching fulfillment" within the CCF and the Canadian Labor Congress; the 1,000,000-member parent body of unions in Canada.

Burnside Doubles Champs Upset in City Competition

By JIM TAYLOR

With a new season just under way, bowlers from five clubs can be forgiven if they cast somewhat fearful glances toward Burnside Lawn Bowling Club. Last season, the Burnside members were acting like the New York Yankees of bowling.

Of eight major competitions, Burnside bowlers won seven. Only the Corby-Wiser seven, won by Victoria Lawn Bowling Club, eluded them. The question is, how far will they fare this year?

Things looked a bit more promising after last night's play in the Wilkinson Shield competition for the city doubles championship. Arch Ashford and Terry Campbell, the Burnside combination which has won the event for the past three years, was upset in the quarter-finals by Ed Renny and Ed Beattie of the Victoria club. The score: 14-13.

That left it up to W. Hamilton and A. Dickie to carry Burnside colors the rest of the way. They reached the semi-finals with a 25-15 win over W. Smith and Fred Brown of the Victoria club, which has three chances. In a third quarter-final game, D. Millar and C. Pinkney scored a 16-0 victory over clubmates Ernie Beddoes and Ernie Jolly.

Charlie Hodgson and Bert Waite of the Canadian Pacific club are the other semi-finalists, having bested Arthur Yates and Ed Walters, 12-7, to prevent the Victoria club from getting a sweep.

Regardless of how the Wilkinson competition comes out, there is quite an array of defending champions waiting in the wings to try and add to the Burnside trophy collection.

HOME GREENS

Alec Donald's entry defends the Malkin Cup in the men's triples competition starting next week, and will have the advantage of home greens.

Dave Donaldson holds the Peace Cup as Island singles champion, and the Yarrow-

Cup for the Island doubles titles at present the property of Wally Fea and Les Passmore. Burnside bowlers also hold the Cameron and Nicol triples trophies and the Whitney Cup, for the Greater Victoria triples championship.

It will be interesting to see how many of them can repeat.

They aren't wasting any time running off the inter-club competitions this year. Although the Wilkinson event isn't completed yet, entries have been received and first round draws made for the Malkin Cup doubles event starting Monday at Burnside.

India Chalks Up 116 Before Play Stopped

NOTTINGHAM, England (Reuters)—India managed 116 runs for the loss of three wickets Friday before rain ended play at an hour early in the first cricket test match against England.

Gene Littler Still Holds Stroke Lead

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gene Littler carved five more strokes off par 72 at stormy Pine Ridge Friday to be 12 lower than the course standard and one ahead of his nearest competitor halfway through the Eastern Open.

Ed (Porky) Oliver, the 44-year-old jolly man of golf, stuck tenaciously to the heels of Littler, 28-year-old star of this year's professional tour. Littler went into today's third round with 132 strokes to Oliver's 133.

Each went around the 6,820-yard course in 67 strokes despite tricky conditions caused by rain and wind.

Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Texas, held on to third place although he lost ground to the leaders. Hawkins was at 135 on rounds of 67-68.

Then Roy and Urmigal added 51 runs in 61 minutes for India before both were blitzed by pace bowler Freddie Trueman. Roy scored 54 runs, including four fours.

Other county matches:

Middlesex 357 for 5 declared and 226 for 3 declared. Leicestershire 252 and 168 for 4. Draw.

Worcestershire 98 and 232. Surrey 232 and 81 for 1. Surrey won by 8 wickets.

Nottinghamshire 387 for 7 declared and 229 for 3 declared. Leicestershire 252 and 168 for 4. Draw.

Worcestershire 98 and 232. Surrey 232 and 81 for 1. Surrey won by 8 wickets.

Kent 383 for 5 declared and 221 for 1 declared. Warwickshire 215 and 149. Kent won by 239 runs.

Somerset 283 for 5 declared and 286. Hampshire 381 for 7 declared and 178 for 6. Hampshire won by 4 wickets.

Nigerian Tiger, Calhoun in Draw

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mid-weight Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., held Dick Tiger of Nigeria, British Empire champion, to an unpopular 10-round draw at Madison Square Garden last night in Tiger's impressive American debut.

The estimated 2,000 fans booed the decision lustily, most of them apparently believing that Tiger and his relentless left-hooking attack had won the bout.

However, only one of the three ring officials, Judge Bill Recht, favored the stocky Negro from Equatorial West Africa. Recht had Tiger ahead on a rounds basis, 6-3-1. Judge Bill Forst favored Calhoun, 5-4-1. And Referee Mark Conn called it even, giving each boxer five rounds and five points.

The United Press International favored Tiger, 6-3-1. Tiger weighed 163½ pounds to Calhoun's 163½.

Bowling Event Starts Up-Island

'Imports Overpaid' —Ex-Lion Sharkey

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ed Sharkey, by his own admission a former "grossly overpaid" lineman for British Columbia Lions, says Canadian football teams are paying "absolutely crazy" wages to American imports.

He said he was paid more than $10,000 to play for the Lions, more than he ever received or dreamed of receiving in the National Football League.

"It was more than New York Giants were paying Andy Robustelli, more than San Francisco 49ers were paying Leo Nomellini, probably the highest paid linemen in the league."

He said the NFL, far richer than Canadian leagues, pays an average salary of about $7,500 with one or two top stars getting $12,000 and a very few getting more.

"Here an untried college boy can command up to $18,000 and a discarded pro from the NFL can start dicker at around $10,000."

Sharkey, now a brewery salesman, agreed that Canadian football's restrictive import rule is forcing wages up. Herb Capozzi, Lions' general manager, said he disagreed with Sharkey's figures.

He said that while he believes unlimited imports would be good for his club, it would tend to increase salaries because all clubs would be after the best players.

He said all NFL players do not receive high wages when they come here. Sharkey's estimate of the Lions' payroll was too high but Capozzi would not say what the actual figure was.

Sharkey said in a later interview the point he wants to make is that the wage spread of up to $15,000 on one team is too high. He said low wages paid to starting Canadian players are too low and there is not enough incentive.

Sharkey, now coaching the

McCooey Loses Seniors Final

VANCOUVER (CP)—Stan Angus of Trail defeated Col. Larry McCooey of Victoria 6 and 5 Friday to win the 27th annual B.C. Seniors golf title at Point Grey.

Angus, eliminated in the finals last year by Jack Edgell of Vancouver, was unbeatable Friday. He had eliminated Dr. Whit Matthews of Vancouver one up Thursday to gain the finals.

Col. McCooey had won the right to meet Angus by beating Pete McIntyre of Trail 2 and 1. McIntyre had ousted Col. McCooey in taking three straight finals, 1955-57.

Everlastings Easy to Grow

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Flowers which can be dried—the so-called everlastings or immortelles—are of immense value for home decoration during the winter months. Tastefully arranged without water in vases or bowls or rustic wicker baskets, they make a charming centerpiece for the table and hold their colors well under artificial light.

Most of the everlastings can be grown quite easily in any garden. A short row, perhaps in a corner of the vegetable patch, can supply the house with enough dried flowers to provide winter bouquets and arrangements throughout the whole winter.

The strawflower, Helichrysum bracteatum, is probably the best known, bearing a profusion of double daisies in pink, cream, yellow, mauve and red, and with stiff, papery petals. Seeds may be sown now in any ordinary soil and the seedlings thinned to stand 12 inches apart in the row.

The flowers to be saved for winter use should be cut just before they are fully opened. Strip the stems of all leaves, tie them up in small bunches and hang them up head down in a cool, airy place to dry slowly.

Lunaria annua is a plant of many names. Hereabout we call it Honesty, while in the U.S. it is known as the Silver Dollar Flower and in continental Europe as St. Peter's Pence. All these names derive from its silvery paper discs—actually seed pod dividers—which look so handsome in winter bouquets.

Honesty is a biennial. Seeds sown this month will produce plants which bloom next year. The blooms are allowed to remain on the plant and set seed and when these pods are fully dry, the stems are cut, the outer parts of the pods stripped off, leaving the big silver disc in the middle.

Honesty is a most accommodating plant and will grow in just about any kind of soil as long as the drainage is reasonably good. The plant blooms and sets seed almost as freely in the shade as under full sun.

Statice, Acrolinum and Rhodanthe are all excellent for drying and can be sown now. The blooms are picked when almost fully opened, the stems stripped of foliage and dried in the same way as the strawflowers. It is most important to dry them slowly, out of the sun, or the lovely colors of the petals will fade to wishy-washy pastel tints.

Statice or Sea Lavender is, to my mind, the best of the everlastings, with feathery plumes in pink, mauve, blue and purple. There is also a yellow variety, the prettiest of the lot, which seems a bit more difficult to grow, as I have never had much luck with it.

These plants come from the Mediterranean basin, the yellow one from Algeria, hence they succeed best under hot, sunny and slightly dry conditions, as they are accustomed to in their native home.

Acrolinum and Rhodanthe are much alike, both bearing single-flowered pink daisies with a yellow eye. Rhodanthe makes a bigger plant and has bigger flowers. Acrolinum is the easiest to grow and both prefer a light, fertile soil in a position sheltered from the wind.

Crazy, Mixed-Up Duce

NEW YORK (UPI)—"The Killers of Mussolini," Thursday night's Playhouse 90 drama, can be summed up in a single unhappy sentence—it didn't play well.

Writer Ed Hotchner had some chunky material on his hands in his study of the Italian dictator's final days, but he never really managed to pull it together into a tight dramatic package. It was an exercise that proceeded in a halting manner—jerking ahead at a swift clip for a few minutes, coughing to a halt, then staggering forward again, only to sputter to a slowdown.

To compound the difficulty, Hotchner's script contained several touches that bordered embarrassingly upon soap opera—a partisan couple (good guys) planning their marriage and future just before Communist partisans (bad guys) gun them down; a doomed partisan boy offering the doomed Mussolini some bread baked by his dear old mother; the Duce writing a touching letter to his wife just before his mistress walks in.

These were cheap emotional contrivances, the shoddy ironies of a writer reaching out for the easy way of juicing a faltering story.

Buzz Kulik's direction didn't help matters much either. The drama had a jerky, jerky air—awkward transitions, badly-paced scenes and a complete lack of internal rhythm in the piece as a whole. The play's opening scene, in which Mussolini's advisers traded desperate strategy, was stupefyingly unreal. So, too, was the staging of all of the battle scenes.

As for the acting, for a Playhouse 90 it was curiously disappointing. Nicky Persoff as Mussolini seemed strangely off-centre all evening. The character of the Duce was obviously a complex one and Persoff never succeeded in quite delineating him—his Mussolini struck me as a crazy, mixed-up kid.

The rest of the cast ranged from awkward to adequate with the exception of Ilka Windish, who played Mussolini's mistress. In a small role, she turned in the only hard and effective portrait in the entire piece.

Stars Dread London Press Call

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Lucille Ball told an English reporter in Paris that she was afraid to go to England because of what the press did to her friend, Ginger Rogers. Every star who goes to London expects to be asked two questions—"How old are you?" and "How much money do you have?"

Chances of a reconciliation between Glenn Ford and Eleanor Powell are growing brighter, which is good news for their friends.

Marion Brando's "One-Eyed Jacks" will spend $5,000,000 merely to advertise and promote the $5,000,000 western.

Mike Todd Jr.'s "Scent of Mystery" ends with former stepmother Elizabeth Taylor walking into and out of a scene without a line of dialogue. There's a reason for it, of course.

Metro is testing top model Joanna McCormick. The model ranks have yielded quite a few stars—among them Lauren Bacall, Suzy Parker and Angie Dickinson.

Jesse Lasky Jr. is writing the script of "On My Honor," the saga of the Boy Scouts that Cecil B. de Mille had planned for a picture.

There are two big women's roles in Cary Grant's picture, "The Grass is Greener," which he makes in Europe next year. And it's my guess that he will land Ingrid Bergman as well as Deborah Kerr. Which is quite a parlay.

Pat Wymore, who is about ready to become the ex-Mrs. Errol Flynn, has a date to see Errol in New York to discuss the divorce. Pat has a new name for her husband: "The Irish Fidel Castro."

Margaret O'Brien has pushed forward the date of her wedding with Robert Allen—it's now set for Aug. 8. To be followed by a Hawaiian honeymoon. Margaret's wedding gown, designed by Simonetta of Italy, is, says Maggie, "short, in Italian cotton faille, with a picture collar. And a tulle veil the length of the dress—very other-worldly."

Dancer Margot Fonteyn may be persona non grata in Panama, but she was guest of honor at a party in London at which Count Bertil Bernadotte represented his cousin, the King of Sweden.

Paramount expects Jerry Lewis's new comedy, "Don't Give Up the Ship," to gross $6,000,000 domestically. Jerry has offered to fly to the Arctic Circle with a print of the movie to entertain the men at the naval weather and radar stations.

Here is a deal which illustrates, at great cost to today's declarer, that it doesn't pay to take charge of a hand. North has too much for one no-trump and too little for two clubs, so his spade response was an acceptable compromise. In spite of his anaemic suit, his four-club rebid was meant to elicit further information about South's distribution. Having already forced, South could easily have rebid four diamonds, showing at least five and five in the red suits. Then North would have had no hesitation in placing the hand in six diamonds. When South bid four no-trump instead, all North could do was give the correct replies, and South gambled the small slam at no-trump.

When both the heart and the diamond finesse failed, South was set three tricks; the opponents cashing two clubs, a heart and a diamond. At diamonds, South would ruff a heart in dummy, and concede a diamond, making six-odd.

The use of the Blackwood Convention is most inadvisable until a suit has been agreed upon, either directly or by inference, unless the balanced nature of the combined hands—as revealed by previous rounds of bidding—suggests a final no-trump contract.

What is EATON'S Research Bureau?

This is something of which EATON'S is very proud. It is the only scientific testing laboratory operated by a retail organization in Canada.

What Does the Research Bureau Do?

EATON'S skilled technicians at the Research Bureau test merchandise of every kind—motor oils, fabrics, paints, plastic, detergents, and many other items—to determine their qualities, evaluate them for EATON'S stores across Canada. Questions asked and answered every day include: "Will it wash?" "Is it strong?" "Will it fade?" "How fast does it dry?" "What is it made of?" and "Will it wear?"

Who Asks The Questions?

EATON'S stores all over the country—EATON buyers in buying offices all over the world. Our own Victoria store, for example, makes use of the Research Bureau to check on the correctness of advertising claims. On one recent test the Bureau deleted six advertising claims and changed a hang tag. It may make for unexciting advertising, but it means that you are told the truth, and nothing but the truth!

An Excellent Example of Work Done

by EATON'S Research Bureau is shown in EATON'S Brand Name merchandise. As a result of the strictest testing, and several trials, merchandise worthy may bear the well-known and time-honoured EATON brand names, such as Eaton, Glenelg, Vanity Fair, Haddon Hall, VIKING, TECO, Bellefair, Berkley, Babyfair, Birkdale, Vanity Fair and many more.

Mount View High School valedictorian Ann Harris, 17, of 776 Portage, receives last-minute words of encouragement from her room teacher, C. G. Thomson. Graduating class of 90 entertained parents at reception after the ceremonies.

Oak Bay Senior High School graduates—196 of them—held their banquet last night in the school auditorium. Luckiest graduate present was Alec Campbell when Verna Branscombe, left, and Linda Brown both offered him dessert.

Mount Douglas High School had 70 in graduating class. Here student council president Garry Lawrence, 18, 1853 San Pedro, has his tie adjusted before the ceremonies by classmate Susan Forrest, 18, 3601 Cedar Hill Road.

Victoria High School valedictorian, Patricia Service, was given moral support and a helping hand by David Nelson while they were waiting for graduation ceremonies to begin last night. Some 240 students participated in the ceremonies.

Day of Graduation—a Time for Parting and a Time for Beginning

700 Victoria Students Graduate

Night of a Lifetime

Some 700 graduates of five Greater Victoria high schools last night officially ended their school days in a round of parties and merriment.

But there were tears, too, for the days that are gone, as speeches and presentations highlighted the solemnity of the occasion.

Prof. F. C. Boyes of UBC reminded some 240 High School graduates that today's youth faces the task of either creating a peace or picking up the pieces.

"As we gather here tonight, over in Geneva this decision is being approached," he said. "We can lose this wonderful thing... democracy."

Similar themes were stressed by guest speakers at the other graduation exercises. They emphasized the need for higher education to compete in the nuclear-age world, and heavy burden of responsibility which graduates will assume in the new life ahead.

Coun. George Austin of Saanich told 70 Mount Douglas graduates: "Today, probably more than ever before a sound education is most important... I would urge all of you to continue your education at our Victoria College and then go on to UBC."

"I am sure that in the years to come you will be glad that you continued your studies, and that these studies will pay you rich dividends."

A distinctive touch of pageantry was added to Esquimalt High School graduation exercises when the teaching staff wearing caps and gowns led an academic procession of 82 members of the graduating class into the auditorium.

Oak Bay High's graduating class of 190 held a banquet and dance last night in the auditorium. Graduation exercises and prize-giving will be held next Friday and on the following Sunday graduates will attend a special service in St. Mary's Anglican Church. At Mount View High School the 90 graduates entertained their parents at a reception in the school cafeteria following formal graduation exercises.

In each case the program differed slightly, but atmosphere of excitement remained the same. The proud parents, well-scrubbed boys with a flower in the lapel of their best suit, girls crowding around the mirror making a last-minute adjustment to their new dresses. The difficulty of finding a place to park near the school.

It will all go to make an image of the night that comes only once in a lifetime. And an age from now—on Monday, they'll have to be back at school.

Esquimalt High School staff donned cap and gown last night to lead an academic parade of 82 members of the graduating class. At entrance to gaily decorated auditorium Miss Mabel R. Conibear, girls' councillor, greets Carol Deaville, 17, of 612 Lampson, and student council president Miles Webster, 17, of 624 Bryden Court.—(Colonist photos.)

'Build for Yankees But Not for Us'

The federal government will "build for the Yankees, but won't build for British Columbia," Premier Bennett charged yesterday.

He said the federal government is building a ferry wharf at Sidney for Washington State Ferries, but that it wouldn't build ferry wharves for the ferries the provincial government will operate between Saanich Peninsula and the mainland.

"I always said they can't see across the mountains," the premier said.

This week the provincial government called for tenders on a Tsawwassen terminal and breakwater expected to cost between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. Saanich Peninsula terminal will be at Sidney, but the premier hastened to explain the federal government didn't know that B.C. was going to use the docking facilities there.

No Couple Yet Found For Home

A further search for a couple to run the Greater Victoria juvenile detention home may keep the home closed for another three or four weeks.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell said yesterday he had been informed that the home committee's first choice for the job, from among 20 previous applications, had rejected it after interviews with the committee.

He said the committee now would advertise again for applications, this time stating the salary range available. (Qualifications of some of the previous applicants, committee members had indicated, showed they believed they were applying for a much higher-paid job.)

Securing new applications and considering them would probably take until the end of the month, the acting mayor said.

He said he understood no juveniles had required detention since the home was closed last Saturday on the departure of Col. and Mrs. W. S. Dingley. And pending the appointment of a new couple, he said, he presumed any unruly cases would be detained in jail on judge's orders and others placed in their parents' custody or in foster homes.

RCN Minesweeper Put Up for Sale

The RCN minesweeper which played an important role in the color and spectacle of British Columbia's centennial year celebrations has been put up for sale.

HMCS Cedarwood was brought out of "mothballs" and converted into a replica of the historic side-wheeler Commodore, for a re-enactment of the arrival here in 1858 of 400 bolsters gold seekers headed for the new strike on "Fraser's River."

The ship was paid off into the reserve fleet at Esquimalt Oct. 19, 1957. She had completed eight years of service with Pacific Naval Laboratory as an oceanographic survey ship since coming here from Atlantic Command.

In 1949, a year after her arrival, the wooden-hulled vessel took a joint Canadian-U.S. group of scientists to an important Arctic study.

Years of solid service were enlivened by few flashes of color and excitement. One such occasion came in December,

Thieves Work Hard In $2,863 Robbery

Cigarettes and tobacco worth $2,863 were stolen overnight Thursday by thieves who broke into the Kelly Douglas wholesale warehouse, Government at Princess, city police said yesterday.

The thieves climbed an eight-foot fence into the Victoria Foundry yard, forced a door to the foundry and stole a 12-pound sledgehammer and a crowbar.

Then they climbed over a

Defence Minister George

Peakes will be the guest of honor. Addresses will be made by Mr. Husband and Gen. Peakes.

Miss Victoria May Make It

Proposed visit of Miss Victoria and her entourage to the Portland Rose Festival seemed nearer last night when city travel agent George Willis offered to donate four bus fares for the trip.

Still to be found is the price of ferry fares, accommodation and meals for the four.

Fluoridation Wins Favor with Many

Greater Victoria may be a lot closer to fluoridation of its water supply than some wary public health officials believe, according to a Colonist opinion survey last night.

A random check of 14 households showed eight in favor of the move, three opposed and three undecided.

The poll followed an exclusive Colonist report which indicated referendums on fluoridation will probably be held this year in all of Greater Victoria.

A Victoria Chamber of Commerce committee will spark the movement with requests to the four councils to referendums.

Health authorities were generally of the opinion that Greater Victoria wasn't ready yet for plebiscites on fluoridation, and some felt the fluoridation question shouldn't be tied in with municipal elections next December.

'Plebiscite Good Idea'

Mrs. R. Driver, 3146 Eason Street: "I imagine fluoridation would be a good idea. I think a plebiscite would be a good idea."

Mrs. Albert Earl, 619 Duplin: "I don't think that we approve of it. You don't know what is in the water today. I don't think a plebiscite should be held but if it went through there wouldn't be much I could do about it."

Neville W. Life, 2823 Colquitz: "It is a thing that people get very hot under the collar about. The medical and dental people know their jobs and they are in favor of it so it must be good."

J. Burgess Buckminster, 364 Arnot: "I kind of think it would be a good thing."

Mrs. Maurice Burbridge, 2147 Sooke: "I think the chlorine in the water is foul but if fluoridation will help the children then I suppose that is what we must think about."

Frank Bagnotta, 1028 Princess: "Sure, I think it would be okay."

"If the vote is held in December it's going to turn into a political football," predicted Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy, Victoria-Esquimalt medical health officer.

Dr. Mahaffy proposed that a fluoridation vote be separated from the municipal elections and postponed until the spring.

"It should happen in every city in Canada," said E. F. Rowley, 1686 Warren Gardens. "It's been proved scientifically that it works, with no harmful effects at all."

Mrs. Fanny Hunter, 1328 Minto Street: "All the water I use won't hurt my health, or help it anyway. I think it is a good idea to put fluorides in drinking water."

Philip Dalke, 219 West Burnside: "I would just as soon do without it. I don't think it would do much for my children's teeth."

William Tooth, 1300 May Street: "I would have to study up on it. We don't have any children so I haven't been too interested."

Mrs. William Hole, 165 Barkley: "I think it would be wonderful if they can prove that it will prevent dental decay, but I would have to read some of the surveys in other places before I could decide."

Mrs. W. McQuillan, 474 St. Charles: "I don't think I mind fluoridation. I'm more or less neutral. I am in favor of holding a plebiscite on it, though."

Mrs. Richard Fanthorpe, 2887 Dysart: "I'm not in favor of it. I sure don't believe fluoridation will help children's teeth."

Dr. David Parfitt, president of the Victoria District Dental Society, said the society felt more public education on the benefit of fluoridation was needed.

Taylor Wins Six To Lead College

Robert R. Taylor, leader of Victoria College's second-year education students in this year's examinations, led the whole college in the number of prizes he won for his work. He was named as the winner of six when the prize lists for the faculties of arts and science and education were issued yesterday. (See complete list on Page 7.)

Several other students, among more than 40 who won prizes, won two or three.

Anne Mayhew, who led second-year arts and science students in the examinations, and Michiel S. D. Horn, who led first-year arts and science students, each won three awards. Majority of the awards will be presented at the annual assembly, Oct. 16.

In announcing the winners, the college expressed appreciation to the clubs, firms and individuals honoring top-ranking students and encouraging them with prizes.

Sale of Paintings May Bring $20,000

A watercolor painting of a nude attributed to Emily Carr is among 200 paintings which will be auctioned at a two-day sale in Victoria next week.

The paintings are expected to fetch between $15,000 and $20,000.

The sale, to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Lunds auction rooms, 926 Fort, is expected to attract buyers from Vancouver and other mainland centres.

The nude study is thought to have been made by Emily Carr during her post-graduate student days in California or Paris. Three other paintings by the same artist—including two painted for her personal friends—will also be sold.

A portrait in oils attributed to the 18th century Scottish painter Sir Henry Raeburn will go on sale the first night. There are also two drawings attributed to another famous Academician, Augustus John. The Canadian Group of Seven is represented by the works of Arthur Lismer and A. Y. Jackson.

Paintings will be on display from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday, and on the two following days from nine in the morning until the sale begins at 7.30 p.m.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann: My wife drinks. Not just a couple at a party, or a highball before dinner — she must have liquor every day.

Our children (three boys) accept her drinking matter-of-factly. A pal of our 11-year-old son asked why his mother acted "so loud." He said openly "She's drunk."

I've tried to get to the bottom of her problem but it's no use. She says liquor gives her temporary freedom from her worries. When I ask "What worries?" she can't tell me. She says, "Liquor makes me happy. Let me drink if I want to."

I've begged her to get professional help but she has no faith in doctors. When I suggested A.A. she said "It's not dignified." I know you can't solve this problem, but perhaps you can say something to help me understand it better. —JUST JOHN.

Outside Help Needed

Your wife needs outside help, and plenty of it. If she refuses, you've got to keep trying to persuade her.

A.A. does a magnificent job. Too bad it's not "dignified" enough for your wife. Perhaps it's more dignified to appear slopped to the eyeballs before her children and their friends? People who think liquor makes them happy don't know what happiness is, or where to look for it. One thing is certain—it's not at the bottom of that bottle.

Happiness is security; it's the ability to face daily tensions, disappointments and failure. Every living human has something to put up with. Happiness isn't a state of euphoria, complete freedom from anxiety or unlimited financial resources.

It's the ability to take it on the chin without bucking. It's accepting life's bum breaks without getting bitter or reaching for the bottle—or the pill box. Happiness is being able to think THROUGH your problems, not pretending they don't matter by fleeing into a state of fantasy.

Your wife needs to grow up. It's not what happens to us in this life but how we take it, that counts.

Driving Me Nuts

Dear Ann Landers: My mother-in-law is driving me nuts. Every day she phones me and says "Have another baby. You'll be sorry later if you don't."

We've been married six years and we have three. As far as I'm concerned three is enough. My husband says it's up to me. He's perfectly satisfied either way.

She keeps telling me how "wonderful" a large family is. I came from a family of two children and I don't feel I missed anything. My husband has three sisters and four brothers and they all fight like cats and dogs. Three of them don't speak to each other, and two don't speak to their mother.

I don't want to be rude, but my temper is short. Any suggestions?—FULL HOUSE.

Dear Full: The size of the family is nobody's business except the two people directly responsible, namely the mother and father. Ask your husband to tell his mother to stop boring you. She may mean well, but she's off base.

Faithful and Loyal

Dear Ann: My girl friend who pretends to be so faithful and loyal has been making a play for my best boy friend. We aren't going steady, but we ARE going steadily. I learned she invited him to her house last night to listen to records and he stayed until midnight. There's an unwritten law that you're supposed to leave other girls' property alone. Shall I tell her and ruin our friendship?—GILDA.

you're smart you'll say nothing, date others and let him know you believe in complete freedom for everybody.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for Ann Landers' new booklet, "Necking and Petting—and How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

(Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

WHY SILICONES? More and more cosmetic products contain silicones. The trend started with hand lotions and has spread to lip pomades, suntan lotions and baby creams. And a very good thing, too!

Developed in the chemistry lab, silicones increase the effectiveness of a product in many ways. It is no secret they provide a protective barrier on the skin that repels water and grime. This is the primary reason for their use in hand lotions, wherein they form an "invisible glove" not quickly penetrated or washed away.

But silicones possess valuable properties other than repellency to wet and soil. They also are non-greasy and yet spread easily and uniformly. Consequently, they make an ideal additive to suntan lotions. So formulated, suntan lotions discourage sand from clinging and need not be replaced after each dip.

Silicones, moreover, act as a protection against irritants—chaf and externally-induced rashes. Hence their inclusion in lip pomades and baby creams.

Q.E.D. Why silicones!

Sidney Wedding Attended by 200

Over 200 guests attended the wedding of Floralea Beers, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Beers and the late L. Beers, Sidney, to Mr. Maurice E. Royston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Royston, of Brentwood.

Reception was held in Sanscha Hall, Sidney, following the marriage in St. Paul's United Church. The Rev. C. H. Whitmore officiated.

The bride wore a gown of heavy slipper satin overskirted in Nottingham silk lace. She carried a white prayer book with red rosebuds and lily of the valley. Her crystal necklace was the gift of the groom.

Starkey-Fletcher

On a tour of Washington and Oregon are honeymooners Mr. and Mrs. Robert Leonard Starkey, married in an evening ceremony in St. Luke's Anglican Church.

Officiating was Rev. T. B. Ragg.

The bride is the former Noreen Ida, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Fletcher, Hoy Lake Road, Langford and her groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Starkey, Orillia Street, Victoria.

For the double-ring rites, Miss Fletcher chose a long entrained gown of white net over satin with a fitted bodice featuring a scooped neckline

Coste-Rogers

Baskets of pink and white peonies formed the setting for the Saturday wedding of Doreen Evelyn Rogers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willis Rogers, Kingston Street, and Lorne H. Coste, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Coste, Veteran Avenue.

Rev. Douglas B. Carr performed the double ring rites in Centennial United Church last evening.

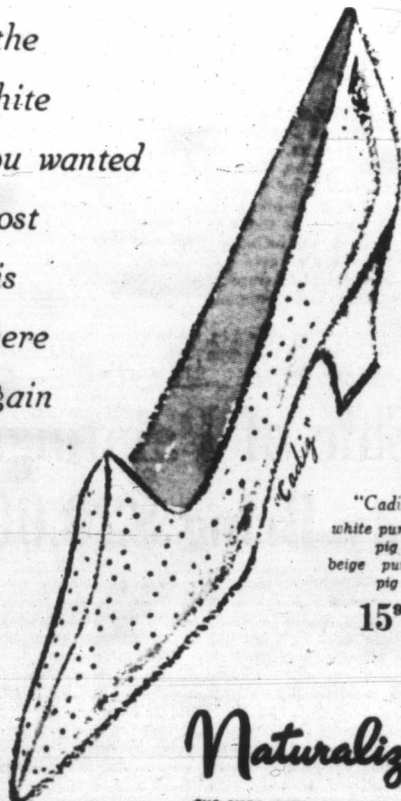

Proceeding Miss Rogers and her father up the aisle were her attendants, Mrs. Bernice Osolit, in blue, and the Misses Helen Barker in pink and Sharon Stevens in mauve.

Their gowns were styled similarly of iridescent taffeta with short bouffant skirts, white

Shopping with Sally

Patio Parties Plenty of Fun

Why is Saturday shopping so much fun?

Perhaps it's the crowds, the holiday atmosphere (the traffic?) the bargains or what?

Here are a few items for household of patio parties that can be bought today for $1 to $10.

For patio parties with a touch of glamor, a famous-name puts out barbecue lights—in the shape of Chinese lanterns—in a 10-light set with 30 feet of wiring for only $9.95.

As a gift, shish kebabs skewers would be perfect for the backyard barbeque. A set of four in stainless steel is priced at $2.39.

For 79 cents, there's a fetching napkin rack in the shape of a black corral fence adorned with a steer's head, a charcoal caddy in galvanized tin for $2.69 and a burger grill that easily holds six man-size hamburgers for outdoor or charcoal cookery for $3.95.

Summer time is ice cream and cold drink time and two of the best accessories you can give or receive are a lemon and lime squeezer for 25 cents and an ice cream scoop for $2.98 that's so useful for mashed potatoes, cottage cheese, salads, rice and so on.

Other gadgets and gadgets for less than $1 include a 29-cent olive, cherry and pickle fork, with long handle that reaches deep into the big jars, a mint sauce ladle that separates mint from vinegar for 59 cents (chrome-plated); a handy bracket for holding the kitchen broom for 25 cents and, for 19 cents, a scouring pad tray with removable drain pad that ends that messy discoloration of sinks caused by old pads.

For the boy's room, den or rumpus room there's a thermometer in wood with a mallard duck perched around the zero mark. Price is $4.50.

Some of the best plastic kitchen items I've seen for a while are clear plastic air sealed containers for anything from pie wedges to two loaves of bread. Not only can you see what you have on hand, but the sealing helps keep things at their freshest. Prices range from 29 cents up to $5.

Music Group Re-Elects Miss Vaughan

Miss Margery Vaughan was re-elected president of the Victoria Chapter of the Royal Conservatory of Music at the 22nd annual meeting.

The meeting, held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Harvey, Terrace Avenue, also re-elected vice-presidents Mrs. W. W. Boulter and Mrs. G. F. Champion, as well as secretaries Mrs. E. R. Whittington and Miss Lorna Langley. Treasurer is Mrs. T. Brandon, serving her first term succeeding Mrs. G. Warrack.

The chapter again presented the Marian McGovern scholarship at the music festival and gave two ouraries to top ranking students locally.

It was announced four examiners from Toronto would be in charge of work here in June.

They are Mr. John J. Weatherseed for piano and organ; Dorothy Allan Park, for voice; John Montague for violin and wind instruments and Florence Aymong, speech arts.

Prince Sets Date

BRUSSELS—Prince Albert, heir to the Belgian throne, will marry Princess Paola Ruffo di Calabria of Italy, July 2, in Brussels. The couple was to have been married by Pope John in the Vatican.

To Be Wed June 12

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Waterman, 1188 Hampshire Road, announce the engagement of Mr. Waterman's daughter, Joyce Sharon, to Mr. Michael Robert Currier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Currier, 1526 Arrow Road. The wedding will take place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church on Friday, June 12, at 8 p.m., with the Rev. R. MacDonald officiating.

The Characters You Meet In Dress Shops Today

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Something sharp pricked Mrs. Max Weber's finger as she thumbed through dresses in a women's shop.

She pulled back the garments and saw a three-foot snake on top of the rack. "I didn't have time to faint—I just stood there frozen," Mrs. Weber said.

The snake was identified as a non-poisonous blue racer.

KERRY DRAKE

TV TALK

Something different—Ingemar Johansson, contender from Sweden for the world heavyweight boxing title, will appear as a singer on the Steve Allen's final show of the season at 7.30 p.m. tomorrow night on channel 4.

Steve's other guests are Ginger Rogers and Steve Lawrence.

First Playhouse 90 drama to be produced outside of the United States—"Dark As The Night"—will be seen over channels 7 and 12 at 9.30 p.m. June 18.

Starring Michael Wilding and Laraine Day, "Dark As The Night" is the last story of a successful young British lawyer whose American wife announces she is leaving him just at the height of his campaign for election to parliament.

Next Thursday, on Playhouse 90, Lee J. Cobb, Kenneth Haigh, Gosh Huber and Patty McCormack will star in the "Project Immortality" to be seen at 9.30 p.m. on channels 7 and 12.

"Project Immortality" is the story of a scientific attempt to reproduce by means of an electronic device the mental processes of an intellectually advanced human being.

Cancer Worriers Smoking More

VANCOUVER (CP)—People are so worried about cigarettes causing lung cancer they are smoking more.

Frits Bodde, deputy chairman of the British-American Tobacco Company, said in an interview Friday reports that lung cancer is caused by smoking are increasing sales.

"When people get worried like this they smoke more," he said.

Train Wreck Rush-Hour Smashup Kills 43

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Two speeding commuter trains collided head-on during the rush hour at a station just outside of Sao Paulo last night, causing a heavy loss of life.

Officials said at least 43 persons were killed and more than 100 others were injured in the jolting smashup.

Casualty toll was expected to rise as rescue crews clawed their way through the twisted wreckage for bodies.

The tracks of the crash scene were littered with splintered wood, broken glass and passengers' belongings scattered by the impact. Some of the bodies were thrown clear of the train coaches.

The trains were travelling in opposite directions on the same track. The officials said one of the trains had been switched to a siding, but through error had been switched back to the main line as the second approached.

The collision occurred near a station located nine miles from the downtown section of this second largest city in Brazil.

The outgoing train was loaded to capacity with commuters returning home from work. The incoming train was crowded with people going into Sao Paulo for the evening.

Police said several of the victims were found alive, but died en route to hospital.

'Violent, Scandalous' Communist Berlin World Spy Capital

Hérons Block Project

LADNER (CP)—Construction of two roads and a 500-square-yard housing development at nearby Tsawwassen Beach has been postponed for the benefit of a flock of more than 1,000 Great Blue Herons.

More than 100 nests are located in the area. Construction was halted Thursday for about two weeks so the herons hatched this spring can gain strength for their annual migration south.

Real estate man George Hodgins called off construction work at the request of Ladner game warden Reg King.

Buildings and building machinery were locked up.

"Mr. Hodgins obviously cares more for the birds who pay no rent than the people who do," Mr. King said. "We appreciate this very much."

Ladner is 15 miles south of Vancouver.

Double Agent Exposed

BONN (AP)—A man recently arrested on spy charges was named Friday as a high West German official of an anti-Communist organization.

The state attorney's office in Karlsruhe identified him as Wolfram von Hanstein, vice-president and secretary-general of the League for Human Rights. The league claims to be engaged in exposing Communist persecution of East Germans.

GENEVA (AP)—State Secretary Christian A. Herter Friday scorched Russia's free-city plan for West Berlin as "a disguise for gradual smothering of the West Berliners' present freedom."

The American told the Big Four foreign ministers' conference that this Soviet plan to end the Berlin crisis could be a way-station on the road to annexation by Communist East Germany.

STRONG WORDS

Herter, in a hotly-worded but coldly-delivered speech, lashed Communist East Berlin as "the site of one of the heaviest concentrations of subversive and spying activities in the world." He labelled these "violent, scandalous, and dangerous."

The 35-minute attack came as the ministers returned to the Palace of Nations for a plenary working session after earlier private sessions.

WEST WILL STAY

Herter spelled out what the Western ministers have told Foreign Minister Gromyko in private—that the United States, Britain and France intend to stay in West Berlin.

The American also replied, on the record, to charges levelled earlier by Gromyko and Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz of East Germany against activities in West Berlin.

MINIMUM REQUIREMENTS

Herter put on the record for the first time here the West's minimum requirements for any stopgap arrangement to remove the Berlin issue as a barrier to a summit parley:

1. "Respect for existing Western rights of presence and access to Berlin and existing agreements concerning such rights since the Western presence is essential to maintain West Berlin's freedom."
2. "No recognition of the so-called East German Democratic Republic."
3. "Maintenance of West Berlin's political and economic ties with the West."

FATE OF CANADA HINGES ON U.S. AIR MASTER PLAN

Chart for Survival Or a Compromise?

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new "master plan" for air defence which U.S. Secretary Neil McElroy has promised to submit to Congress in two weeks will mould the fate of Canada as well as that of the United States.

The big question is—will the plan be merely an attempt to compromise the bitter disputes between the warring U.S. military services over money for missiles, or will it be a dramatic break from the defense confusion Canadians and Americans find so frustrating?

Will the McElroy plan be a plan for survival in case of an all-out Communist attack? Will it envision massive shelters for large numbers of people, means of firing missiles from bomb-proof bases and some new defense against Russia's vast fleet of missile-firing submarines?

Most observers doubt if it will. They think the plan will only seek to settle the bitter dispute between house partisans of the army's Nike-Hercules missile and Senate partisans of the Bomarc, which Canada is committed to use.

The whole defence situation is producing an acute malaise in the American public. At last Americans are taking with dead earnestness the view expressed most recently by a general a week ago—that the only real defence the United States has today in diplomacy and keeping its allies.

But diplomacy and an alliance must be backed up by a military policy that can be understood by the allies and the people at home—and at present very few people understand the U.S. defence policy, some congressmen believe the U.S. has been panicked by Soviet bluff into spending billions on the wrong defence measures.

For example, a few years ago, when the Russians introduced their Bison bomber with great fanfare, the U.S. spent billions on a defence against it. Then the Bison proved a flop and the Russians abandoned it.

Now, the question is being raised in congress and even more vigorously in parliament at Ottawa as to whether the United States and Canada are not in grave danger of wasting as much as $60,000,000,000 on the Bomarc and Hercules missiles, and meanwhile failing to meet the Soviet submarine and ballistic missile threat—plus failing to give adequate attention to the matter of civilian survival.

Canada In Deep —Pearkes

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Defence Minister George Pearkes stressed last night that Canadian participation in North American defence was far greater than merely acting as a missile site for the United States.

He said that the defence departments of both countries have been working in co-ordination with one another to "an extremely large extent."

RADAR ROLE

Pearkes, here to address the 14th annual meeting of the Naval Officers Associations of Canada, pointed to the role of the new giant radar station at Prince Albert, Sask.

The information gained from radar studies of cosmic rays and the aurora borealis from the site will be of immense importance to defence scientists of both nations, he said.

Pearkes said the station was an excellent example of the co-operation between the neighboring nations.

Police Kill Sniper In Coal Union War

HINDMAN, Ky. (UPI)—State police killed one of a group of snipers who pinned down a convoy of 15 to 20 trucks loaded with non-union coal on a steep hill and wounded a young driver yesterday.

Dead man was identified as Bobby Jenkins, Jr.

Chester Blair, 20, was shot in both hands and one knee, but managed to ease his truck to the bottom of a hill, Cornett Hill on Ky. Highway 15. His condition was reported "good" in hospital.

TIRES HIT

The tires of six or seven trucks were punctured by rifle bullets and the cabs and windows of several were shot out.

State police detectives confiscated four high-powered rifles, a pair of foreign-made binoculars and a large supply of ammunition found hidden under weeds and vines off the highway.

State police detective W. E. Wood estimated more than 100 shots were fired from both sides of the road.

The strike began March 9

and has idled an estimated 7,000 miners in seven southeastern Kentucky counties.

Death of Jenkins came after a group of snipers had fired at trucks hauling coal to a coal company operated by a leader in resistance to signing of the 1959 United Mine Workers contract.

The death was the third since the mine strike started March 9.

Small Poll Expected

A light vote is expected in today's special by-election in Oak Bay to fill two vacancies on the municipal council. Returning officer A. D. Findlay said last night he had heard little public discussion of the election.

Votes must be cast in the Oak Bay council chamber between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. today.

Seven Indicted

Gun-Running Count Sticks

MIAMI (UPI)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted as conspirators seven men who allegedly set up an underground network to funnel arms from the United States into the seething Caribbean.

The grand jury charged the men, including the Dominican Republic's consul-general in Miami, attempted to bribe U.S. customs agents to let the arms go through Miami.

The case was broken with the arrest of 11 persons loading guns and ammunition aboard a four-engine transport plane here May 22. Cuban exile sources said at that time the arms were being shipped to the Dominican Republic to be used to stage a counter-revolution against Cuba.

U.S. customs officials confirmed that the arms were destined for this use and added that the weapons seized were the first of a $1,000,000 worth the conspirators planned to export.

The broader implications of the plot were not mentioned in the indictments returned yesterday.

Cross-Island Bus Trips At Last

The general public may now drive from Campbell River to Gold River and Metchosin Arm on the west coast of Vancouver Island, but only by Coach Lines bus.

After more than a year of negotiation, an agreement has been reached between the bus line and Elk River Timber and Logging Companies.

The trip takes two hours from coast to coast, with a half-hour stop at Gold River. Buses leave Campbell River on Wednesdays at 3 p.m., on Fridays at 4 p.m., Saturdays at 6 a.m. and 4 p.m. and Sundays at 8:45 p.m.

The drive is a scenic trip along Upper Campbell and Buttle Lakes, then down the Elk River Valley and the Gold River.

Empty Stomach Worse Than Broken Back

Munching on a hamburger brought in to him at Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday, logger Emil Bartanus told about the logging accident in which he was injured near Jordan River

Thursday and the uncontrollable hunger that made him ask for hamburgers on the way to hospital, despite the pain from three broken vertebrae.—(Colonist photo.)

One Rescuer Just Out of Cast

Hungry Logger Sure Grateful

Emil Bartanus, who suffered three broken vertebrae in a logging accident in the Jordan River area Thursday, relaxed in his Royal Jubilee Hospital bed yesterday and said: "I'm sure grateful to the fellows who came out from camp to pack me out of the bush."

"They came out just as they were, in their good clothes," he said. "One of them, George Anderson, had only been out of a cast for a broken ankle a couple of weeks. I hear his foot is all swollen up again today."

Mr. Bartanus said it took four men to pack him out. "I'm no lightweight and I had heavy clothes on. The fellows were wonderful—careful as they could be—but every now and then a foot would slip on wet ground or a log, and the wrench hurt something fierce."

He said he was hungry when he got to camp about 8 p.m. Thursday and asked his fellow loggers to phone to Sooke for hamburgers.

"But my wife met me with some sandwiches and a thermos."

"I'm a first aid man myself, so I knew I really shouldn't eat in case there were internal injuries," he said yesterday.

Mr. Bartanus explained that an "afterthought" put him in hospital.

He had spotted an old cedar that had fallen years before, leaving two slabs, one 60 feet long and the other 40 feet, waving in the wind.

He thought he should get them down and about quitting time felled a nearby tree so it would knock the slabs down.

"But it didn't work that way," he said. "The tree hit the slab all right, but the slab only went part way with the tree, then snapped back and down, right for me."

"I tried to run, but got caught in branches. I covered my head, but the slab caught my back."

'Intermediate Range'

Successful Rocket Claimed by Egypt

CAIRO (UPI)—The newspaper Al Akhbar said yesterday the United Arab Republic has produced the Arab world's first successful intermediate-range rocket.

The newspaper said the rocket, called El Ramah (the Sprinter) 301, was tested on a desert range adjoining the war plant where it was designed and built, with "excellent results."

It said the war ministry has appointed a special committee to conduct "important experiments with the new rocket in complete secrecy."

"The newspaper report gave no details of the rocket's performance. The term 'intermediate range' as applied to rockets usually means they can be used against targets up to 1,500 miles away, but what is known of Egypt's technology made such a missile doubtful, observers said.

'Pretty Nice,' Says Terry

Twinkle had her six kittens in a hat-box, ruining three hats and although his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Sinden, Charlotte Street, are a little annoyed, their son, Terry, 5½, doesn't mind. He thinks they are "pretty nice."—(Colonist photo by Charles Thompson.)

Bonner High Congratulated

Liquor Ban Wins Praise

Trustees Ask More Power To Get Loans

DUNCAN—Trustees here will try to get provincial legislation that would allow school districts to borrow more money from banks in lieu of having to go through "costly" bond issue proceedings when raising small amounts of money.

The board of Cowichan school district made the decision after finding that to borrow $6,200 by floating bonds it would have to pay back $7,500.

"It is entirely unreasonable," commented finance chairman Wilt Peck. "It means that we would only be getting 88 per cent value for our money."

He suggested the board borrow from a bank. "We'll have to pay back about the same interest rates, but we'll save the cost of the bond issue," he said.

After the School Act was consulted and it was found that boards can only borrow a maximum of $5,000 from banks for capital expenses, Mr. Peck was delegated to call on the education department to see if in this case it could get $6,200 from a bank.

The question will be taken to the next Vancouver Island Trustees Association meeting.

Chinese Sailor Injured

CROFTON—A fireman who fell through an open hatch while greasing a port winch, is in good condition in Chemainus hospital.

Kuen Yu Hsu fell 15 feet and suffered undetermined injuries about 3:30 p.m. yesterday at the dock here an hour before his ship, the Haltee, registered at Formosa, finished loading 536,000 feet of lumber and left for Vancouver.

The ship is chartered by Seaboard Shipping Co. Ltd., Vancouver, and was scheduled to leave for the east coast of the United States today.

Gallivanting Braked

DUNCAN—Students using cars to get to Cowichan High School must not touch them until after school, unless it is to go home for lunch.

This will be pointed out to students and parents in a letter to be distributed by the school.

The letter, prepared by Principal R. M. Lendrum, is intended to stop "gallivanting" students.

Woods Reserve To Be Park

Provincial cabinet yesterday authorized transfer of the Vancouver Island Plantations Forest Reserve on the Chemainus River for development as a provincial park.

Recreation department officials said it is planned to develop the area, as the old swimming-hole type of campsite.

Litter Left On Lids

DUNCAN—A nine-month-old cat gave birth to six kittens recently and its owners are amused and a little angry about the whole situation.

"Don't misunderstand. We thought it was a male at first, but we're not angry about it being a female and having kittens," said jovial George Sinden, 638 Charlotte, whose son, Terry, 5, owns the cat.

"What got us a little riled is where they were born," said the Kiwanis Club president. "Twinkle, our cat, went into a closet and knocked the top off a hat box and crawled in."

"Right on top of my best hat and two others," said Mrs. Sinden. "They had to be burned."

U.S. Gyro Delegates Learn About British Parliament

DUNCAN—Delegates to the District 4 Gyro International convention being held here this weekend learned something about British parliamentary procedure and the history and traditions behind it.

Guest speaker at the luncheon held in the curling rink Friday afternoon was Bob Strachan, M.L.A. for this constituency and leader of the Opposition in the B.C. legislature.

Mr. Strachan told delegates, many of whom are from Washington and Oregon, that he had recently attended a convention in Spokane and had also been invited to attend the Oregon centennial celebrations. "It is always a thrill, and somewhat of a surprise, when you have crossed an international boundary to find that the people there are just the same as in the province or state you just left," he said.

Because it was an unwritten rule in the Cowichan New-castle riding never to give a political speech to a non-political group, he was going to talk on parliament, he added.

"You can rest assured, though, that if the premier were speaking here today he would give you lots of facts and figures and tell you what a wonderful job his government was doing for this province. He would also tell you that this was not a political speech. But, if the leader of the Opposition were to tell you the truth, then this would be politics, and we couldn't have that," he said jokingly.

He described many of the procedures used in the legislature and explained the years of tradition behind them.

The premier, he said, was the boss. "And it's my job as the leader of the Opposition to try and get him out of there. It is one of the interesting facts peculiar to our form of democracy that I am paid by the government I am trying to unseat."

To many people, he said, democracy seems slow and confused. "But make no mistake, my friends, it works."

He said he was very sad when he thought of the critical position in which many politicians are held by the public today. "Politics are very important to our way of life. Politics will decide what kind of a world we are going to live in and that our children will inherit. I urge each and every one of you, wherever you live, to save a little bit of your-

Dobson Greets Gyros

DUNCAN—More than 200 Pacific Northwest delegates to the District 4 Gyro International were officially welcomed yesterday by Mayor Jack Dobson.

Mayor Dobson apologized for the temporary cloudy weather.

"I'm sorry that we don't have our usual bright sunshine at the moment. But, I checked with the weatherman and find that all this stuff has blown up from Washington and Oregon," he said.

Gasoline Truck Burns in Ganges

Mighty Blast Averted

Firemen, Safety Devices Save Salt Spring Port

GANGES—Daring action of Ganges volunteer firemen plus the ingenuity of safety devices on a burning gasoline truck averted a major explosion on Salt Spring Island yesterday.

Traffic through the port of Ganges was blocked for two hours as a fully-loaded gasoline truck was all but consumed by flames.

The truck, owned by Shell Oil distributor Alex McManus, was about to unload fuel at a Ganges service station when it caught fire. Faulty wiring is suspected by RCMP as the cause.

When flames threatened to engulf the vehicle it was pushed out into the town square where it would cause the least damage if its hundreds of gallons of gasoline exploded.

Police blocked off approaches to the danger area, keeping spectators some 300 feet away, while volunteer firemen moved in under the protection of a nearby cliff.

With their heads barely showing above street level they got to within 50 feet of the flaming truck and played water hoses on it.

Meanwhile, the volatile content of the truck was prevented from exploding by safety-type filler caps which open slightly under the pressure of extreme heat.

Pressure of expanding gases inside the tanks was bled off slowly by the covers, preventing the flames from reaching the liquid fuel.

Water from the hoses finally cooled off the explosive load to the point where the safety-covers closed and the flames were snuffed out.

Gliding Club Using Cassidy For Flights

Victoria Gliding and Soaring Club plans to fly its two-seat glider all day Sunday from Cassidy airfield near Nanaimo.

Club president Bob Knapp said the glider was successful in a test flight over the past weekend.

Oysters Gift For General

LADYSMITH—Oysters from Ladysmith will soon grace the table of one of the British army's senior medical officers.

When Dr. H. Bowker leaves shortly to attend a medical convention in England, he will take with him a quantity of quick frozen oysters donated by Peter Limberis.

The oysters are a gift for Maj.-Gen. P. F. Palmer, honorary surgeon to the Queen, who Dr. Bowker met when he served overseas with the British Army Medical Corps during the Second World War.

Day of Graduation—a Time for Parting and a Time for Beginning

Mount View High School valedictorian Ann Harris, 17, of 776 Portage, receives last-minute words of encouragement from her room teacher, C. G. Thomson. Graduating class of 90 entertained parents at reception after the ceremonies.

Oak Bay Senior High School graduates—196 of them—held their banquet last night in the school auditorium. Luckiest graduate present was Alec Campbell when Verna Branscombe, left, and Linda Brown both offered him dessert.

Mount Douglas High School had 70 in graduating class. Here student council president Garry Lawrence, 18, 1853 San Pedro, has his tie adjusted before the ceremonies by classmate Susan Forrest, 18, 3601 Cedar Hill Road.

Victoria High School valedictorian, Patricia Service, was given moral support and a helping hand by David Nelson while they were waiting for graduation ceremonies to begin last night. Some 240 students participated in the ceremonies.

'Mickey' Costs $300

DUNCAN — Selling a "mickey" of rye for $4 costs a city man $300 in police court here yesterday.

Wing Wah, pleaded guilty through interpreter Wah Sing Chow and admitted selling a 13-ounce bottle to a police informant Sunday at 1.40 a.m.

"That was a pretty expensive sale, the minimum fine is $300 or 60 days," said Magistrate A. C. Sutton.

In other cases, A. P. Slade, a trucking firm from Victoria, was fined $100 for allowing one of its trucks on the Trans-Canada Highway with a load of 1,200 pounds over the 18,000 pounds gross allowed on a single rear axle.

NANAIMO — A young Courtenay logger received a heavy fine and licence suspension in Nanaimo police court yesterday.

William R. Wellenbrink pleaded guilty to a charge involving a hit-and-run accident in which nearly $1,000 damage was caused.

Court was told that the car Wellenbrink was driving rammed into the rear of a turning car May 18, five miles north of Nanaimo.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts said, "I've a good mind to send you to jail." The magistrate took into consideration that Wellenbrink's licence was clear of any other offences.

Wellenbrink was fined $150 and costs and lost his licence for the next three months.

PARKSVILLE — Mrs. Frank Lockwood has been elected president of Parksville Parent-Teachers' Association succeeding Mrs. W. A. Thompson.

Other officers elected were first vice-president, Mrs. Edward Foster and second vice-president Mrs. E. McWilliams. Conveners are Mrs. W. T. Raven, Mrs. William Fulcher and Mrs. James Dobler.

'Howleroo' Set Today

CHEMAMUS — Chemamus Cuts and their leaders will play host to visiting groups from Mt. Benson district at a "Howleroo" to be held on the elementary school grounds this afternoon. A pack from Ganges, Salt Spring Island, will also attend.

PORT ALBERNI — Fifty-two students of the sea-going type are visiting Port Alberni while Mr. G. D. Kennedy loads lumber here for the overseas market.

The young men, 17 to 22 years old make up the classes which work and study as they see the world on the Swedish training cargo ship. The lads, who run strongly to blue eyes, blond hair and cheerful smiles, are future engineer officers and deck officers. They receive both practical and theoretical training in a stiff three-year course which prepares them for their exams.

Capt. S. Ekstrand of the Royal Swedish Navy is chief instructor.

NANAIMO — Two charges against one man brought fines totalling $100 yesterday in Nanaimo police court.

Tom Alec Miazgar pleaded guilty to driving a motor vehicle while his licence was under legal suspension and also driving a vehicle with the wrong licence plates displayed.

Magistrate Lionel Beevor-Potts warned the accused that if it had been a straight suspension of his licence that had been violated, he would have sent him to jail.

Miazgar was fined $75 for driving under suspension and an additional $25 for using the wrong licence plates.

'Joint Dump' Bid Accepted

NORTH COWICHAN — Council has agreed to accept an offer by Duncan and the Cowichan Indian band for a "joint dump."

The city and band are already using the dump that is south of the city near Fairbridge Road, on the reserve.

COWICHAN BAY — One of Cowichan Bay's oldest and best-known fishing centres has changed hands.

Ordano's, a fisherman's landmark here for 41 years, has two new owners: Claude Waterton and Harold Wrohan, both of West Vancouver.

Mr. Waterton is the active partner and will run the boat building ship chandlers' boat rental business with his wife and family, while Mr. Wrohan, a research lab man at Shaughnessy Hospital in Vancouver is the silent partner.

The name Ordano's is known in fishing circles throughout the Pacific Northwest. It was in December, 1918, that Domingo Ordano, just out of the army, opened a small marine boat works at Cowichan Bay. Boat repairs and boat building kept him busy, but he soon found himself in the boat rental business and the headquarters of a growing fishing centre.

Expanded many times over in the past 41 years, Ordano's now consists of a ship chandlery, a store selling sport fishing equipment, modern marine ways, boat-building shop and 22 boats ranging in size from 14 to 21 feet that are available to fishermen.

Hundreds upon hundreds of fishermen have gone out in Cowichan Bay in sturdy roomy, Ordano-built inboard boats over the years, and thousands of pounds of salmon have been brought back over the Ordano wharf.

Mr. Ordano says the biggest spring he saw brought in was a 53-pounder. Last year, 51 and 50-pound springs were caught in the same week. Biggest coho he remembers being caught at the Bay was a 31-pounder taken a few years ago by Mrs. Lee Hallberg. "But big springs and coho are not uncommon. Fishing is fairly good now but gets better from July 15 on. Best fishing is after Sept. 25 and then its good right up to November."

Other News, Page 6

PORT ALBERNI — Funeral services will be held Monday for Richard John Nicholas, 66-year-old veteran of two wars, who died in West Coast General Hospital Friday.

Mr. Nicholas first came to this district 21 years ago and had been employed until last year as a bakery truck driver. He was born in the United States.

He leaves his widow, Eve, at the residence; a stepdaughter, Mrs. D. W. White, Port Alberni; three stepsons, Fred Cole, Vanderhoof; Herbert and Frank Cole, Calgary; also 10 grandchildren.

Rev. Roy Rodgers will conduct services from Stevens' funeral home at 2 p.m. Burial will begin the veterans' section of Greenwood Cemetery.

LADYSMITH — Plans are nearly completed for the Legion salmon derby to be held June 28.

First prize is a palmetto tent. Second prize is a camp stove and third prize is a sleeping bag.

Ladies prize is two lawn chairs. Prize for the boy or girl under 14 hooking the biggest salmon in their class is a wrist watch.

A special prize for the first salmon weighed in is a portable barbecue set.

LADYSMITH — Chamber of Commerce president Stan Heys has announced chairmen of various standing committees.

Industrial development, Ross Root; program, Andy Easton; roads, Frank Van Horne; membership, Arne Hill; special amalgamation committee chairman, E. F. N. Robinson.

NANAIMO — Members of the Nanaimo Junior Chamber of Commerce suggested at their last meeting, that they sponsor a car raffle this year at the Nanaimo fall fair.

Sprinkle Curb In Parksville

PARKSVILLE — Until further notice all sprinkling is prohibited throughout Parksville except during the following times: east of the Alberni Highway, Monday, Wednesday and Friday only, between the hours of 7 and 10 a.m. and 6 and 9 p.m.

On Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays residents of the area west of the Alberni Highway may sprinkle during the same hours.

There will be no sprinkling allowed at all on Sundays and watering must cease when the fire siren is heard.

COOMBS — Officers elected at the annual meeting of French Creek (Coombs) P.T.A. are: President, Mrs. W. M. Van Horne; vice-president, Mrs. P. Hoyland; secretary, Mrs. A. Hill; treasurer, Mrs. R. Grasser; conveners, Mrs. S. Gamble, Mrs. J. Hogg, Mrs. J. A. Kilbey, Mrs. H. Prosser, Mrs. E. Runolfson, Mrs. K. Clarke, Mrs. G. Ward. Installing officer was Mrs. Joe Green, past president.

MILL BAY — Funeral services were held Thursday for Archibald Owen Beck, 76, former head of the Canadian National Railways medical department at Montreal, who died Wednesday.

He was a 33rd degree member of the Shrine at Montreal and had lived here for the last 14 years.

Surviving are his widow, Queen; a son, Wilson, Ontario; a daughter, Mrs. Doreen Bunch, Montreal; two great-grandchildren and seven grandchildren.

Rev. S. H. S. Jervis officiated at the service from Hirst Funeral home, Duncan. Cremation followed.

Duncan School Denied Sect

DUNCAN — A "circumvention" here by Jehovah's Witnesses means a religious meeting, the board of school district 65 (Cowichan) has decided.

And because the board passed a resolution in 1952 forbidding schools to be used for religious meetings, the convention cannot be held in Cowichan High School Oct. 9, 10 and 11.

QUALICUM BEACH — A year of successful operation was reported at the first annual meeting of District 69 Ambulance Society, with a total of 63 ambulance trips, 13 to attend accidents, and 50 private house calls to provide efficient service in the area.

Harry Castle, Jr., has been appointed comptroller, replacing H. K. Reid who is leaving the district. Officers elected are: president, Rev. W. H. Bulloch; vice-president, E. G. Hayman; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. G. Hayman; directors, Albert Brooks of Coombs; Harry Castle, Sr., Qualicum Beach; R. J. King, Errington; Miss E. Little, Qualicum Beach; M. C. Jamieson, Bowser, and Benny Chaffin, Coombs.

GALIANO ISLAND — A motion to cancel the scheduled June 6 joint council meeting between the Salt Spring, Galiano, and Pender Island Chambers of Commerce was passed at a Galiano council meeting last evening.

The issue under discussion by the three chambers concerns the submission of a joint brief to the provincial cabinet urging government ownership of the Gulf Islands Ferry Co. (1951) Ltd., of Ganges.

NORTH COWICHAN — Council is debating whether to let the SPCA take over collecting dog licence fees in return for taking care of the "dog situation" in the municipality.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison said this week that if an agreement was reached the society would get 80 per cent of the licence fees, about $1,600 a year, and possibly a grant equal to the taxes they would pay on a pound.

Several Won Two

Taylor Wins Six To Lead College

Robert R. Taylor, leader of Victoria College's second-year education students in this year's examinations, led the whole college in the number of prizes he won for his work.

He was named as the winner of six when the prize lists for the faculties of arts and science and education were issued yesterday. (See complete list on Page 7.)

Several other students, among more than 40 who won prizes, won two or three.

Anne Mayhew, who led second-year arts and science students in the examinations, and Michael S. D. Horn, who led first-year arts and science students, each won three awards.

Majority of the awards will be presented at the annual assembly, Oct. 16.

In announcing the winners, the college expressed appreciation to the clubs, firms and individuals honoring top-ranking students and encouraging them with prizes.

Sale of Paintings May Bring $20,000

A watercolor painting of a nude attributed to Emily Carr is among 20 paintings which will be auctioned at a two-day sale in Victoria next week.

The paintings are expected to fetch between $15,000 and $20,000.

The sale, to be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Landis auction rooms, 526 Fort, is expected to attract buyers from Vancouver and other mainland centres.

The nude study is thought to have been made by Emily Carr during her post-graduate student days in California or Paris. Three other paintings by the same artist—including two painted for her personal friends—will also be sold.

One is a flower study in watercolors, another a small canvas depicting trees, and the third is a scene at the cliff of Beacon Hill Park.

A portrait in oils attributed to the 18th century Scottish painter Sir Henry Raeburn will go on sale the first night.

There are also two drawings attributed to another famous Academician, Augustus John.

The Canadian Group of Seven is represented by the works of Arthur Lismer and A. Y. Jackson.

Paintings will be on display from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday, and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tuesday, and from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Wednesday. The sale begins at 7:30 p.m.

'Built for Yankees But Not for Us'

The federal government will "build for the Yankees, but won't build for British Columbia," Premier Bennett charged yesterday.

He said the federal government is building a ferry wharf at Sidney for Washington State Ferries, but that it wouldn't build ferry wharves for the ferries the provincial government will operate between Saanich Peninsula and the mainland.

"I always said they can't see across the mountains," the premier said.

This week the provincial government called for tenders on a Tsawwassen terminal and breakwater expected to cost between $3,000,000 and $5,000,000. Saanich Peninsula terminal will be at Sidney, but the premier hastened to explain the federal government didn't know that B.C. was going to use the docking facilities there.

Still Closed

No Couple Yet Found For Home

A further search for a couple to run the Greater Victoria juvenile detention home may keep the home closed for another three or four weeks.

Acting Mayor Arthur Dowell said yesterday he had been informed that the home committee's first choice for the job, from among 20 previous applicants, had rejected it after interviews with the committee.

He said the committee now would advertise again for applications, this time stating the salary range available. (Qualifications of some of the previous applicants, committee members had indicated, showed they believed they were applying for a much higher-paid job.)

Securing new applications and considering them would probably take until the end of the month, the acting mayor said.

He said he understood no juveniles had required detention since the home was closed last Saturday on the departure of Col. and Mrs. W. S. Dingley. And pending the appointment of a new couple, he said, he presumed any unruly cases would be detained in jail on judge's orders and others placed in their parents' custody or in foster homes.

Centennial Sidewheeler

RCN Minesweeper Put Up for Sale

The RCN minesweeper which played an important role in the color and spectacle of British Columbia's centennial year celebrations has been put up for sale.

HMCS Cedarwood was brought out of "mothballs" and converted into a replica of the historic side-wheeler Commodore, for a re-enactment of the arrival here in 1858 of 400 boisterous gold seekers headed for the new strike on "Fraser's River."

The ship was paid off into the reserve fleet at Esquimalt Oct. 19, 1957. She had completed eight years of service with Pacific Naval Laboratory as an oceanographic survey ship since coming here from Atlantic Command.

In 1949, a year after her arrival, the wooden-hulled vessel took a joint Canadian-U.S. group of scientists to an important Arctic study.

Years of solid service were enlivened by few flashes of color and excitement. One such occasion came in December, 1954, when Cedarwood battled a 60-mile-an-hour gale in Heceta Strait for three days, scientists mixing with crew in a "bucket brigade" to keep her afloat.

After her centennial year stint, the ship was returned to the reserve at Esquimalt and stripped of dummy sides and paddle wheels, and now the Crown Assets Disposal Corporation has advertised her for sale.

The washing will be done by members of the Lansdowne Junior High School band. All proceeds will go into a fund to purchase uniforms for the band.

Train Wreck

Rush-Hour Smashup Kills 43

SAO PAULO, Brazil (UPI)—Two speeding commuter trains collided head-on during the rush hour at a station just outside of Sao Paulo last night, causing a heavy loss of life.

Officials said at least 43 persons were killed and more than 100 others were injured in the jolting smashup.

Casualty toll was expected to rise as rescue crews clawed their way through the twisted wreckage for bodies.

The tracks of the crash scene were littered with splintered wood, broken glass and passengers' belongings scattered by the impact. Some of the bodies were thrown clear of the train coaches.

The trains were travelling in opposite directions on the same track. The officials said one of the trains had been switched to a siding, but through error had been switched back to the main line as the second approached.

The collision occurred near a station located nine miles from the downtown section of this second largest city in Brazil.

The outgoing train was loaded to capacity with commuters returning home from work. The incoming train was crowded with people going into Sao Paulo for the evening.

Police said several of the victims were found alive, but died en route to hospital.

'Violent, Scandalous'

Communist Berlin World Spy Capital

Hérons Block Project

LADNER (CP)—Construction of two roads and a 500-square-yard housing development at nearby Tsawwassen Beach has been postponed for the benefit of a flock of more than 1,000 Great Blue Herons.

More than 100 nests are located in the area. Construction was halted Thursday for about two weeks so the herons hatched this spring can gain strength for their annual migration south.

Real estate man George Hodgins called off construction work at the request of Ladner game warden Reg King.

"Buildings and building machinery were locked up," Mr. Hodgins obviously cares more for the birds who pay no rent than the people who do," Mr. King said. "We appreciate this very much."

Ladner is 15 miles south of Vancouver.

Double Agent Exposed

BOON (AP)—A man recently arrested on spy charges was named Friday as a high West German official of an anti-Communist organization. The state attorney's office in Karlsruhe identified him as Wolfgang von Hanstein, vice-president and secretary-general of the League for Human Rights. The league claims to be engaged in exposing Communist persecution of East Germans.

Empty Stomach Worse Than Broken Back

Munching on a hamburger brought in to him at Royal Jubilee Hospital yesterday, logger Emil Bartanus told about the logging accident in which he was injured near Jordan River

Thursday' and the uncontrollable hunger that made him ask for hamburgers on the way to hospital, despite the pain from three broken vertebrae.—(Colonist photo.)

One Rescuer Just Out of Cast

Hungry Logger Sure Grateful

Emil Bartanus, who suffered three broken vertebrae in a logging accident in the Jordan River area Thursday, relaxed in his Royal Jubilee Hospital bed yesterday and said: "I'm sure grateful to the fellows who came out from camp to pack me out of the bush."

"They came out just as they were, in their good clothes," he said. "One of them, George Anderson, had only been out of a cast for a broken ankle a couple of weeks. I hear his foot is all swollen up again today."

Mr. Bartanus said it took four men to pack him out. "I'm no lightweight and I had heavy clothes on. The fellows were wonderful—careful as they could be—but every now and then a foot would slip on wet ground or a log, and the wrench hurt something fierce."

He said he was hungry when he got to camp about 8 p.m. Thursday and asked his fellow loggers to phone to Sooke for hamburgers.

"But my wife met me with some sandwiches and a thermos."

"I'm a first aid man myself, so I knew I really shouldn't eat in case there were internal injuries," he said yesterday.

Mr. Bartanus explained that an "afterthought" put him in hospital.

He had spotted an old cedar that had fallen years before, leaving two slabs, one 60 feet long and the other 40 feet, waving in the wind.

He thought he should get them down and about quitting time felled a nearby tree so it would knock the slabs down.

"But it didn't work that way," he said. "The tree hit the slab all right, but the slab only went part way with the tree, then snapped back and down, right for me."

"I tried to run, but got caught in branches. I covered my head, but the slab caught my back."

Successful Rocket Claimed by Egypt

CAIRO (UPI)—The newspaper Al Akhbar said yesterday the United Arab Republic has produced the Arab world's first successful intermediate-range rocket.

The newspaper said the rocket, called El Ramah (the Sprinter) 301, was tested on a desert range adjoining the war plant where it was designed and built, with "excellent results."

It said the war ministry has appointed a special committee to conduct "important experiments with the new rocket in complete secrecy."

Phone Staffs Accept Offer

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 7,000 telephone employees in B.C. have voted to accept a one-year contract providing for a three-per-cent wage increase and fringe benefits, it was announced Friday.

B.C. Federation of Telephone Workers said the increase is retroactive to April 1.

Chart for Survival Or a Compromise?

NEW YORK (UPI)—The new "master plan" for air defence which U.S. Secretary Neil McElroy has promised to submit to Congress in two weeks will mould the fate of Canada as well as that of the United States.

The big question is—will the plan be merely an attempt to compromise the bitter disputes between the warring U.S. military services over money for missiles, or will it be a dramatic break from the defense confusion Canadians and Americans find so frustrating?

Will the McElroy plan be a plan for survival in case of an all-out Communist attack? Will it envision massive shelters for large numbers of people, means of firing missiles from bomb-proof bases and some new defense against Russia's vast fleet of missile-firing submarines?

Most observers doubt it will. They think the plan will only seek to settle the bitter dispute between House partisans of the army's Nike-Hercules missile and Senate partisans of the Bomarc—which Canada is committed to use.

The whole defence situation is producing an acute malaise in the American public. At last Americans are taking with dead earnestness the view expressed most recently by a general a week ago—that the only real defence the United States has today is diplomacy and keeping its allies.

But diplomacy and an alliance must be backed up by a military policy that can be understood by the allies and the people at home—and at present very few people understand the U.S. defence policy, some congressmen believe the U.S. has been panicked by Soviet bluff into spending billions on the wrong defence measures.

For example, a few years ago, when the Russians introduced their Bison bomber with great fanfare, the U.S. spent billions on a defence against it. Then the Bison proved a flop and the Russians abandoned it.

Now, the question is being raised in congress and even more vigorously in parliament at Ottawa as to whether the United States and Canada are not in grave danger of wasting as much as $60,000,000,000 on the Bomarc and Hercules missiles, and meanwhile failing to meet the Soviet submarine and ballistic missile threat—plus failing to give adequate attention to the matter of civilian survival.

Canada In Deep —Pearkes

WINNIPEG, Man. (UPI)—Defence Minister George Pearkes stressed last night that Canadian participation in North American defence was far greater than merely acting as a missile site for the United States.

He said that the defence departments of both countries have been working in co-ordination with one another to "an extremely large extent."

RADAR ROLE

Pearkes, here to address the 14th annual meeting of the Naval Officers Associations of Canada, pointed to the role of the new giant radar station at Prince Albert, Sask.

The information gained from radar studies of cosmic rays and the aurora borealis from the site will be of immense importance to defence scientists of both nations, he said.

Pearkes said the station was an excellent example of the co-operation between the neighboring nations.

Police Kill Sniper In Coal Union War

HINDMAN, Ky. (UPI)—State police killed one of a group of snipers who pinned down a convoy of 15 to 20 trucks loaded with non-union coal on a steep hill and wounded a young driver yesterday.

Dead man was identified as Bobby Jenkins, Jr.

Chester Blair, 20, was shot in both hands and one knee, but managed to ease his truck to the bottom of a hill, Cornett Hill on Ky. Highway 15. His condition was reported "good" in hospital.

TIRES HIT

The tires of six or seven trucks were punctured by rifle bullets and the cabs and windows of several were shot out.

State police detectives confiscated four high-powered rifles, a pair of foreign-made binoculars and a large supply of ammunition found hidden under weeds and vines off the highway.

State police detective W. E. Wood estimated more than 100 shots were fired from both sides of the road.

The strike began March 9

and has idled an estimated 7,000 miners in seven southeastern Kentucky counties.

Death of Jenkins came after a group of snipers had fired at trucks hauling coal to a coal company operated by a leader in resistance to signing of the 1959 United Mine Workers contract.

The death was the third since the mine strike started March 9.

Small Poll Expected

A light vote is expected in today's special byelection in Oak Bay to fill two vacancies on the municipal council. Returning officer A. D. Findlay said last night he had heard little public discussion of the election.

Votes must be cast in the Oak Bay council chamber between 8 a.m. and 8 p.m. today.

Seven Indicted

Gun-Running Count Sticks

MIAMI (UPI)—A federal grand jury yesterday indicted as conspirators seven men who allegedly set up an underground network to funnel arms from the United States into the seething Caribbean.

The grand jury charged the men, including the Dominican Republic's consul-general in Miami, attempted to bribe U.S. customs agents to let the arms go through Miami.

The case was broken with the arrest of 11 persons loading guns and ammunition aboard a four-engine transport plane here May 22. Cuban exile sources said at that time the arms were being shipped to the Dominican Republic to be used to stage a counter-revolution against Cuba.

U.S. customs officials confirmed that the arms were destined for this use and added that the weapons seized were the first of a $1,000,000 worth the conspirators planned to export.

The broader implications of the plot were not mentioned in the indictments returned yesterday.

Cross-Island Bus Trips At Last

The public at last may drive from Campbell River to Gold River and Metchoset Arm on the west coast of Vancouver Island, but only by Coach Lines bus.

After more than a year of negotiation, an agreement has been reached between the bus line and Elk River Timber and Talsis Logging Companies.

The trip takes two hours from coast to coast, with a half-hour stop at Gold River. Buses leave Campbell River on Wednesdays at 3 p.m., on Fridays at 4 p.m., Saturdays at 6 a.m. and 4 p.m. and Sundays at 8 a.m.

The drive is a scenic trip along Upper Campbell and Buttle Lakes, then down the Elk River Valley and the Gold River.
